

Dodgers Win Thriller, World Series Starts Thursday

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers did it!

For the first time in three tries, the Dodgers won a National League pennant playoff Tuesday, defeating Milwaukee's defending champion Braves 6-5 in 12 innings—after scoring three runs in the ninth for a 5-5 tie.

That gave the Dodgers a two-game sweep of the best-of-three playoff. They now move into the opener of the world series against Chicago's American League champion White Sox Thursday at Comiskey Park in Chicago.

With the third, fourth and, if necessary, fifth game set for Los Angeles' massive, 94,000-seat Coliseum, this should be the richest world series in history. Comiskey Park, which seats 46,550, will be the site for the first two and, if necessary, sixth and seventh games of the best-of-seven series for the world championship.

Games in Chicago start at 10 a.m. PST and on the West Coast at 1 p.m. PST.

The Dodgers, first National League team ever to rise to the pennant after a seventh place finish the year before, put across the deciding run on a two-out throwing error by Braves' shortstop Felix Mantilla.—(See Sport section.)

Save Your Tears, Youths Are Bums

NEW YORK (AP)—Magistrate Vincent Rao Tuesday angrily broke up a tearful reunion of parents with seven youths brought before him as street gang slayers.

"I have no pity," he said. "If you didn't let your boys run wild through the streets, they wouldn't be here. These are not just boys. They're bums. They reflect their parents. Now all of you get out of here."

HUGE HOAX OR MAN'S HOPE? JOHN D ASKS OF K's PLAN

Texas

Airliner Crashes, 33 Dead

WACO, Tex. (AP)—A New York-bound turbo-jet airliner exploded in the air and crashed late Tuesday night, apparently killing all 33 persons aboard.

Braniff Airways said the plane, a Lockheed Electra, took off from Houston, Tex., en route to New York via Dallas, Tex. It carried 27 passengers and six crew members.

The big plane blew up high overhead, one witness said, and crashed on a central Texas farm with a roar "like a jet breaking the sound barrier."

Wreaths on Bridge

Alexandra Visits River Kwai

BANGKOK, Thailand (Reuters)—Princess Alexandra stood on the bridge over the River Kwai Tuesday with two men who survived the ordeal of the "railway of death" whose rails lay rusting beneath their feet.

The princess drove 60 miles from Bangkok to place wreaths in the two cemeteries on the banks of the Big and Little Kwai Rivers where lie some of the thousands of troops who died prisoners of war of the Japanese while building the Burma-Thailand Railway.

The two men on the bridge with her were Mr. Philip Hay, attached to the Duchess of Kent's household, who is accompanying the princess on her tour, and Col. C. G. W. Anderson, VC, who flew from Sydney to represent Australia on the pilgrimage.

Bruce Bairnsfather

'Old Bill' Creator Passes

LONDON (Reuters)—Capt. Bruce Bairnsfather, creator of the Old Bill cartoon character of the First World War, died Tuesday. He was 71.

Old Bill—a British Tommy—grew out of Bairnsfather's knowledge of trench warfare. His phrase "If yer knows of a better 'ole go to it" became a classic.

During the Second World War, Bairnsfather dusted off Old Bill and he went to war as official war cartoonist attached to the U.S. Army in Europe.

Full Trade Or Less Aid U.S. Warns

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A cabinet officer hinted yesterday that the United States might be tempted to reduce its overseas aid program unless other free nations quit discriminating against U.S. goods.

Treasury secretary Robert B. Anderson, addressing the governing boards of the world bank and international monetary fund, said bluntly these countries must cease such practices. He aimed his remarks particularly at Western Europe and Japan.

Two Dead

Gracie Slams South

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI)—Hurricane Gracie slammed into the U.S. mainland with 140-mile-per-hour winds and torrential rains yesterday and churned through the Carolinas leaving a wide path of destruction in its wake.

At least two deaths were attributed to the storm, which hammered Charleston, Beaufort and Walterboro, S.C., with its full fury and spread destruction along 150 miles of low country isles, inlets and beaches.

STEPPED ON WIRE

Gerald Sheffield, 18, was killed at Statesboro, Ga., when he stepped on a live power line felled by the storm, and a man was killed near Beaufort when a huge tree crashed down on his car.

Some 5,000 refugees took shelter in evacuation centres in the Charleston-Beaufort area and other thousands were sheltered from the gales and lashing rain at the coast from Savannah, Ga., to Wilmington, N.C.

DAMAGE IN MILLIONS

Property damage was expected to be in the millions in Charleston and along 150 miles of exposed isles, beaches and moss-hung plantations which bore the brunt of the storm's inland sweep.

Large sections of South Carolina were without electricity as darkness fell and Beaufort, Walterboro, Edisto Beach and Folly Beach were completely cut off.

At midnight the storm was centred a short distance northwest of Columbia, S.C., and moving on a northerly course at about 10 or 12 mph.

IN VIRGINIA

The weather bureau said the storm would move into Virginia today.

Meanwhile, Hurricane Hannah which sprang up Monday night while Gracie was bearing down on the U.S. coast, was reported moving along a westerly course about 425 miles south of Bermuda with winds of 100 mph.

Peiping Parley

Khrushchev Joins Red World Chiefs

TOKYO (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev arrived in Peiping yesterday to join what amounted to a general summit meeting of Red leaders from all over the world.

Radio Moscow said the Soviet leader was greeted on his arrival by Chinese Communist chief Mao Tse-tung and other Chinese leaders as he stepped out of the TU-114 jet airliner that brought him to Peiping from Moscow.

Chinese Communist premier Chou En-lai and Soviet Communist party secretary Mikhail A. Suslov, who had arrived earlier, also were at the airport to greet the Soviet premier, Moscow radio said.

Other Communist leaders, gathered in Peiping for ceremonies marking the 10th anniversary of the Communist regime in Peiping, waited anxiously to greet Khrushchev and confer with him.

As Khrushchev's plane passed over the Communist Mongolian people's republic, he sent this radio greeting: "I send you, the government, the central committee of the party and the Mongolian people as a whole a most cordial welcome and best wishes."

Khrushchev, fresh from his talks with President Eisenhower, ostensibly flew to Peiping to attend the official anniversary ceremonies marking the defeat of the Chinese Nationalists a decade ago.

He left the Soviet capital after a stopover of less than 30 hours on his return from the United States. Khrushchev is expected to brief Chinese leaders on his talks with President Eisenhower.

Chinese newspaper editorials Tuesday said Khrushchev's talks with President Eisenhower and other American leaders would help to ease world tension. They declared that China awaited Khrushchev's arrival "with eagerness and the most friendly sentiments."

Border Tiff Stirs Andes

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—An Argentine-Chilean border dispute flared yesterday when a Chilean officer led 20 soldiers in three jeeps across Argentina's Andean border in Salta province.

U.S. Visit 'Epochal' Diefenbaker Says

SASKATOON (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Tuesday night that Khrushchev's visit to the United States was an "epochal one" and added the question: "Do Khrushchev's words constitute a colossal hoax or evidence of mankind's hope of a continuing easing of tension?"

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke at a banquet in connection with the University of Saskatchewan's 50th anniversary celebration.

The remarks were included in a partial text of the address released in advance of delivery.

FIRST PENETRATION

"The first penetration into outer space, the first contact with the moon, the harnessing of nuclear power—these and other unparalleled scientific achievements are taking place in a world depressed by fear, yet uplifted with hopes for the future. Humanity's hopes alternate between danger and promise. Are the results of technological advance to be the bitter fruits of war or the fragrant comforting breath of lasting peace?"

"Premier Khrushchev's visit to the United States has been an epochal one. The question which has now to be answered is whether Soviet Communism will take a militant and warlike form, or whether Mr. Khrushchev's professions of peaceful co-existence can be taken at their face value. Do Khrushchev's words constitute a colossal hoax, or evidence of mankind's hope of a continuing easing of tension?"

WHAT OF RESULTS?

"What of the concrete results so far as they can now be assessed? The determination that the Berlin question be settled by peaceful negotiation is a welcome and significant advance.

"There are signs of progress on disarmament. In his address to the United Nations, Mr. Khrushchev advocated general disarmament of all states. He proposed that within four years all armaments and weapons, except those needed for internal police purposes, should be destroyed.

DETAILED SUGGESTIONS

"As an alternative to his proposals for total disarmament, Mr. Khrushchev offered a number of more detailed suggestions. They have been put forward before, and have not provided the basis for agreement. They lack an element which is a precondition of any successful disarmament agreement—mutual willingness to accept appropriate measures for inspection.

"Disarmament without inspection would be a fateful and tragic course for the free nations. The touchstone of success for any disarmament plan must be the system of verification that goes with it. Yesterday in Moscow Mr. Khrushchev indicated he might be prepared to come some way towards meeting this basic requirement.

"Canada has a special interest in the disarmament problem since this country is a neighbor of the Soviet Union. In the past the Soviet Union has expressed concern at the possibilities of a surprise attack over the polar regions, and has even implied that Canadian territory might be used for aggressive purposes.

"As prime minister, I have repeatedly stressed, since

September, 1957, Canada's readiness to open all or part of her territory to aerial and ground inspection, providing that the U.S.S.R. grants the same rights on an equitable and reciprocal basis.

"Canadian universities can encourage more scientific and cultural exchanges and visits between our country and the U.S.S.R. and other Iron Curtain countries, and the expansion of student exchanges between various countries, particularly in Asia and Africa, will assure greater dividends in meeting the contest for the hearts of men than in any other way, not excluding economic plans.

PERSONAL CONTACTS

"An accumulation of personal contacts can do more than an infinity of words to communicate the quality of life, ideas and attitudes, through exchanges in science, culture and education, and in the course of tourist visits. Thus, so long as visits are positive in purpose and are of genuinely mutual interest and advantage, the government is always ready to encourage such exchanges."

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said a Commonwealth conference on education in July at Oxford, England, adopted a plan under which 1,000 students and teachers in the next few years will be receiving scholarships and fellowships provided by Commonwealth countries with Canada paying one quarter the cost.

STEPPING UP

He added that Russia is stepping up its program to provide for students from Asia and Africa, for students in the U.S.S.R., or any other country inside the Iron Curtain.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

PARIS—A housewife with a plaited straw shopping bag walks along munching the end of a long loaf of bread.

An old woman, nearly blind, leans out of a little booth beside the street and urges people to buy tickets in the weekly national lottery. "Demain soir le tirage," she cries in a hoarse voice. (Draw tomorrow evening.)

These booths are everywhere. The hope of a big winning in the national lottery colors the lives of millions of humble people.

Basketwork barrows of a remarkably graceful design offer goods for sale on the sidewalk outside a big department store.

A loud, impudent sound — "Who-whoop!" — summons a traffic policeman to a call-box on the sidewalk. In an Anglo-Saxon country it would have been a disciplined, measured sound like a gong.

One thing that a first-time visitor to Paris notices at once is the strong individuality of the place. In fact the visitor notices that of France in general.

Everyday objects and machines in France look, feel, sound and even smell differently from their counterpart in North America and Great Britain.

Car horns make a cheeky "Parp!" Paris has its own smell. I think it is a blend of scent and spice, with a touch of sewage. The predominant smell in Stuttgart, Germany, it seemed to me, was a mixture of spice, soap and disinfectant. And London smells of coal smoke and car fumes.

Suave, well-dressed Negroes and Arabs consume elaborate dinners at an outdoor cafe. And across the street, an electric signboard spells out news from Algeria, France's war-torn North African province.

Here in Paris, you are at the heart of a world empire—one that has diminished in size like all empires nowadays—but still a realm of huge size and riches.

France is nobody's satellite. This country's feeling of separate existence is something you can virtually touch and smell.

Paris is beautiful, exciting and fully alive. We strangers, asked why we bestow such praise on it, are reduced to drawing sketches in the air with our fingers. The charm of the town is true, but hard to frame in words.

And looking at this graceful capital and the country that feeds it, I can understand why millions of Frenchmen have defended it to the death.

No Rats Yet in Alberta But Many False Alarms

EDMONTON (CP)—Alberta government officials said Tuesday three incidents of rats being reported in the rat-free province in the last week have turned out to be false alarms. The animals were a pocket gopher, a muskrat and a bushy-tailed pack rat.

Canadian Mill Machinery Purchased by Russia

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Winnipeg firm yesterday sold $15,000 worth of machinery for grain cleaning and purification to Russia.

Officials of the firm, Kipp Kelly Limited, said they believe this was the first sale of Canadian farm equipment to the Russian grain market.

The machines, totalling about 4½ tons, are an electrostatic separator and an air flotation stoner which the purchasers will use in their flour-milling industry.

Company president Robert Kelly visited Russia last year. This summer two Russians came to Winnipeg and opened negotiations to buy the Canadian equipment.

No Intent to Kill Contends Lawyer

Appeal against a death sentence on a murder conviction, now being heard in B.C. Court of Appeals here, will continue today and probably Thursday morning, it was indicated yesterday.

Angela Branca of Vancouver is arguing against sentence imposed at Nelson on Larry Larian Popoff, 23, who was found guilty of murdering Lawrence Douglas Garrett at the interior city last October.

Mr. Branca asked in his argument if, when a man becomes involved in a fight, he can foresee that he may kill his opponent? He suggested that when Popoff had a fight with Garrett, he had no intention of killing the other man.

The lawyer also argued that the trial judge had misdirected the jury during Popoff's trial. Today Victor Dryer will open argument for the crown.

Aimed at Entry Into Canada

Marriage Frauds In Hong Kong

OTTAWA (CP)—A racket aimed at getting Chinese into Canada and the United States under the guise of fraudulent marriages has been uncovered in Hong Kong, an immigration department spokesman said Tuesday night.

Two Chinese-Canadians, among 35 persons arrested by Hong Kong police, have been convicted of perjury and sentenced to two years in jail.

The spokesman said the racket consisted of paying Chinese men, holding valid Canadian or U.S. passports, to go to Hong Kong and marry a Chinese woman, returning with her and one or more boys posing as her sons.

He said the two Chinese-Canadian men are Ching Ping Yin, a naturalized Canadian citizen, and a Vancouver-born man, Wong Sun Yip.

Both admitted to having been previously married when they went through the second ceremony in Hong Kong, he said.

One had a wife living in Hong Kong and the other had a wife in mainland China.

The racket was reported to have come to light in August, when a woman told Hong Kong police she had been approached to marry a man and go to Canada with him.

"Every effort is being made to determine whether or not the fraudulent practices brought to light have ramifications in Canada," an official said.

He added that investigation thus far has shown no Canadian government official is involved.

Chinese Maps

Reds Claim Big Swath Of India

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—The Indian government Tuesday released a political map it said shows that China is laying claim to nearly 40,000 square miles of Indian territory.

A spokesman of the Indian ministry of external affairs said the map, which shows India's frontiers with Tibet, is based on China's latest claim as to what are its borders with India.

The Chinese, he said, had drawn their frontier four to five miles into Indian territory, thus claiming 6,000 square miles of Ladakh in Kashmir and a small part of the state of Uttar Pradesh.

They also claimed about 300 square miles of Bhutan and 32,000 square miles of India's Northeast Frontier Agency, from the eastern border of Bhutan right up to India's border with Burma and China—an area with a population of about 1,000,000.

The Chinese claim also extended slightly to the Plains of Assam, south of the Kameng frontier division in the Northeast Frontier Agency, and Kashmir also was represented as Chinese territory the spokesman added.

He said the map was printed purely for the information and guidance of the press and public and in no way constituted the Indian government's recognition of these Chinese claims.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A lawyer charged in Supreme Court Monday 11 men were dismissed by a shipping company because they could not be trusted by the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.).

James A. Macdonald was applying to have an interim injunction restraining former seamen of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand freighter Waitomo from picketing the ship, set aside.

The injunction was granted Thursday when several men picketed the ship at Port Alberni, on the west coast of Vancouver Island. The International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union respected the picket line and refused to load the ship with lumber.

Mr. Macdonald said the men were illegally locked out. He said under the contract with the SIU the company should have rehired the men when the ship left Vancouver.

But an SIU official had said other men were sent from the hiring hall to replace the 11 "because they couldn't be trusted if a representative vote came up."

The SIU now is battling with the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Transport and General Workers (CLC) for control of seamen on the British Columbia coast.

Vernon S. Hill, representing the company, said there was a conspiracy between the picketers, the 100,000-member B.C. Federation of Labor (CLC) and other labor groups to destroy the contract between the company and the union.

'Anyway We Hope So'

Berlin Threat Over

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev publicly confirmed yesterday his agreement with President Eisenhower that negotiations on the future of Berlin will be conducted without a time limit.

U.S. officials said this agreement ended the Soviet threat to West Berlin.

This also is the agreement which, so far as Eisenhower is concerned, cleared the road to a summit conference on Berlin and other cold war problems. Such a conference may be held late this year or early next year, possibly at Geneva.

NO CHANGE IN RIGHTS

The state department reported Tuesday to ambassadors of the other 14 NATO powers on the Khrushchev-Eisenhower talks.

French envoy Herve Alphand said he understood the Camp David agreement made no change whatever in the rights of the United States, Britain and France to keep their troops as a protection for the 2,250,000 people of West Berlin, in the heart of East Germany.

The agreement did change the situation "in the removal of the threat," Alphand said, adding: "Anyway we hope so."

His afterthought reflected a mildly skeptical attitude among officials and diplomats here about the future of the Berlin situation, since the Eisenhower-Khrushchev agreement rests entirely on good faith.

However, the dominant belief among U.S. leaders is that Khrushchev definitely wants an easing of international tensions for reasons of his own, including economic expansion inside the Soviet Union.

Promptness of the Khrushchev announcement was regarded as supporting this view of good faith on the part of the Soviet premier.

From what Eisenhower said at his press conference Monday, it is obvious Khrushchev and he agreed that they would employ this unusual method of putting on the public record the agreement they had reached.

Don't Forget 'Old' Weapons In Disarming—Churchill

WOODFORD, England (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill yesterday called for an international police force to accompany disarmament and warned people not to let the focus on H-bombs make them forget the "appalling destruction" that could be wrought by so-called conventional arms. He said the Soviet bloc confronts the West with a superiority in guns, tanks, planes, subs and manpower.

World's Leading Minds Urge Nuclear Controls

NEW YORK—A group of world-famed scientists and thinkers warned yesterday that man faces extinction unless the nations of the world submit to control of nuclear weapons and use their new-found scientific knowledge for peaceful purposes.

They were poet Robert Frost, biologist Sir Julian Huxley, philosopher Lord Bertrand Russell, zoologist Dr. Hermann J. Muller, anthropologist Dr. Ashley Montagu and Devereux Josephs, former president of the Carnegie Corp., with Dr. Milton Eisenhower in the chair. The group urged:

Establishment of a powerful world authority to control weapons, a world population policy, a worldwide system of education and increased government planning.

WASHINGTON—Helen Sobell, wife of Morton Sobell, has asked for a chance to have a child by her atom spy husband, who is serving a 30-year prison term. The government has rejected her request.

MONTIGNAC, LE COQ, France—Jean Schweitzer has emerged from the woods in which he had been hiding for 18 days to escape marriage. He said he lacked the nerve to inform the bride-to-be that he wanted to call off their scheduled wedding and vanished instead.

Judgment Reserved In Ditching Case

Judgment was reserved until Oct. 6 by Magistrate William Oster in Saanich police court yesterday on a charge laid under Workmen's Compensation Act regulations against Vickery Construction Ltd., 1314 Quadra.

The charge involved lack of shoring in a ditching job last May 25 on San Juan Avenue in Saanich.

Ralph Sullivan, of the legal department, Workmen's Compensation Board, acted for the Crown; R. A. Price, Victoria barrister, for the defendant company.

In the same court two persons pleaded guilty to drinking liquor in a public place, and three to being minors in possession of liquor.

Fined $50 each on the first charge were Betty Aitken, 2113 Foul Bay, and Daniel Podgorenko, CGS Estevan. Clarence A. Ward, Patricia Bay; Donald R. Henson, 1554 Woodway, and Joseph Harper, 2815 Inlet, were fined $15 each on the second charge. In addition, Ward was fined $25 for driving without a B.C. driver's licence.

MILAN—An angry, sick Maria Callas took to her bed and skipped a television engagement after learning her husband had filed suit for separation blaming "another man" for the breakup of their marriage.

John Robert Ewen, Sidney, was found guilty of escaping lawful custody, and remanded to Thursday for a probation report and sentence.

Also in Saanich court William Murray Fell, 1601 Esquimalt, pleaded guilty to charges of impaired driving and of having no driver's licence.

Fell was fined $250 on the first charge, $25 on the second. A Victoria accountant who has admitted taking about $25,000 from his employers will be sentenced today in city police court.

Raymond Thomas Fraser, about 30, of 265 Superior heard defence counsel G. A. Lauder ask for clemency on his behalf yesterday, because he had returned voluntarily and by pleading guilty had saved the court and his employers considerable expense; and because he had no previous record.

Curfew Out For City

Enforcement of a city curfew as regulations now stand is not practical or probable, city police commission indicated yesterday.

Ald. Elmer McEwen had earlier recommended enforcement of the curfew as a means of curbing juvenile delinquency.

Commissioner William Hamilton agreed that curbing action was needed, but did not see the curfew as the answer. "Under existing regulations, it would require every officer on the force to do anything at all. Each youngster found out after curfew would have to be taken home, and his parents warned."

"If that youngster was found out a second time, there would be a fine of $1."

Chief Blackstock said the curfew was only as good as the parents make it.

"The $1 fine wouldn't pay for taking the youngsters home the first time, let alone further chasing after them," Commissioner Hamilton observed.

Dread Sleeping Sickness Kills 13 in New Jersey

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—A 10-year-old boy died in a hospital yesterday, the 13th suspected death by sleeping sickness in southern and central New Jersey.

He died less than four hours after being admitted to Monmouth Medical Centre in Longbranch. He had complained of a sore throat and stiff neck Sunday at his home.

It was the first suspected case of eastern equine encephalitis in that county. Eatontown is about 50 miles south of New York.

In Johnstown, Pa., about 200 miles from the New Jersey border, doctors said that Geoffrey Dibert, 2, of Portage, Pa., was recovering from a non-communicable type of encephalitis. They said it was not the same type of disease that has struck in New Jersey.

Gov. Robert B. Meyner

called the situation serious, but warned against "undue alarm."

Bill 43 Fight Pledged

Delegates attending the 17th annual convention of the B.C. Provincial Council of Carpenters yesterday pledged an all-out fight for repeal of Bill 43.

The 100 delegates voted solidly in favor of a resolution calling on the more than 10,000 members of its 39 affiliated local unions to vote for "the friends of labor" in the next provincial elections.

The resolution condemned "in the strongest possible terms" the proponents of Bill 43 and the Sorded government.

In a day largely given over to resolutions, delegates held the annual election of officers and voted to return the same slate as last year. President is Harold Taft, New Westminster, vice-president Jack Mobley, Kamloops, and executive secretary E. T. Staley, Victoria.

Air Pilots Fine at 55, Old at 60

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. announced their support yesterday of a government proposal to ground all airline pilots over 60 years of age as "reasonable and judicious."

The industry letter said the proposal to keep pilots over 55 from commanding jets is neither practical nor necessary from a safety standpoint.

Municipal Land Assets

THERE are two main ways in which a municipality can acquire land: by purchase, or through reversion for unpaid taxes. That buying can be expensive in times of rising land values everyone knows, and at such times also tax reversions are at a minimum. There have been some ironical instances in which civic corporations have had to buy back property sold too quickly with indefeasible title in the past. In a province like British Columbia, where population influx is changing all previously experienced patterns of settlement, municipal land rentals might repay a little earnest inquiry. Older countries have been using the system for centuries.

If Victoria in 1862, the year of its incorporation, could have glimpsed what the community would become inside of a century it would have been less anxious to part with title to land assets in the fashion that this and most other B.C. cities did. Even after the hungry thirties when this city repossessed hundreds of properties for non-payment of taxes, the constant aim seems to have been to get rid of them again as fast as could be managed. There was no real conception of leasehold occupation here then, even as today municipalities have been slow to understand the inherent growth value in the properties held.

Meanwhile leaseholds, lease-backs and different forms of limited tenancy are being increasingly and profitably employed in this country by private enterprise. So far as Victoria is concerned perhaps it is late to look for a remedy. The case may be different with younger towns which still have most of their growth ahead. Yet there is always the future, and land values some deem high today may be eclipsed by the turn of events during the next decade.

Great Britain has used 21, 42 and 99-year leases for generations in land development. Limited application of this alternative might prove helpful to communities which do not want to relinquish title outright to their land holdings under present conditions. The rentals charged basically might match the normal taxes, with adjustments upward or down for special use and occupation in special instances.

The inducement on municipalities to sell their lands outright rests on the maintenance of tax rolls, and too seldom perhaps are the inherent growth values given the attention they merit. In short, are the municipalities doing enough to retain and develop their own asset values? Once titles are alienated they are apt to stay that way.

Licences To Kill

MOST experienced sportsmen, as well as the people who live in or near game areas, will heartily agree with the Sooke logging operator who said the other day that a test of competence should come before the issuance of hunting licences. Sportsmen's clubs, local bodies, coroners, magistrates, police and landowners have been saying the same thing for years.

Yet the law respecting the granting of gun licences remains in its original loose form; with the result that every hunting season the game areas are infested with wild-shooting tyros who can't tell a deer from a cow—or another hunter in too many tragic cases—who shoot blindly into a thicket on sound or at anything moving and plead afterwards "it was an accident."

A sporting rifle or shotgun surely is every bit as lethal an instrument as an automobile and the same precautions should precede the granting of one kind of licence as the other.

Before anyone can obtain a licence to drive a car he must not only demonstrate ability to handle it and knowledge of all the rules of the road but also undergo physical tests of eyesight, hearing and reflexes.

On the other hand anyone over 16 years of age can get a hunting licence virtually without question. For all the authorities know he may never have handled firearms before; may be half blind or near-sighted, color-blind, stone deaf or mentally deficient. But he is still entitled to a licence to use a gun, the first shot from which may kill himself or another hunter luckless enough to be in the vicinity when he goes blasting his way through the bush.

Thousands of hunting licences are issued every season and it would add greatly to administrative work if all licencees had to be tested first; but public safety demands no less. A licence to carry a gun should also be a certificate of competence to use it, and not as easy to buy as a raffle ticket.

Political Pulse Taking

PRE-ELECTION polls are part of the political scene even if these straw votes are often misleading. Doubtless some voters are swayed by a desire to board the bandwagon and may be persuaded to follow the trend of some opinion survey; others may be repelled by the invasion of privacy and assert their independence by voting against the alleged trend.

Over in Great Britain where the election campaign has only about a week to run the pollsters are reporting the odds dropping for the Conservatives. Labor is gaining ground, they say, as the straw votes are assessed. There are varying polls of course and a lot depends on how many and what people are sampled. Pre-election polls not infrequently are far off the mark, as was illustrated in Canada when the Diefenbaker regime upset the preliminary pulse taking.

One factor cited in Britain as favoring the Laborites is television. They are said to be smarter performers before the TV screen than the Conservatives. One of their programs even entered the top ten of the week — another form of pulse taking — along with "Gun Law" and another Western. One wonders at the consanguinity and the criterion involved.

Time marches on and television is an easier way of reaching people than stumping the country addressing half-empty benches. It is a factor that must now be reckoned with in election campaigns. Yet if governments are to depend on the facile tricks of the entertainment world democracy is not being well served. Choice of a government is scarcely on a par with the latest soap wash or throaty warbler, nor is the political TV "star" necessarily the best candidate for office.

Interpreting the News

Emphasis on Rocketry

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

THE United States is apparently preparing for a massive effort to overtake Russia in the missile race.

The stepup in U.S. effort and efficiency is seen in the bold step by Defence Secretary Neil H. McElroy to reduce interservice rivalry and bickering, and designate the air force as the master service power not only for launching of all military space rockets but also for development and production.

This move may be a bitter pill for the U.S. army and navy to swallow, but it could open the way to a greater central concentration of effort and funds to find ways of moving ahead of Russia in space rocketry.

Coupled with the move is the decision to cancel a multi-million-dollar program for production of the 2,000-miles-an-hour F-108 jet interceptor, a decision seen by some observers as signalling the end of the line for manned interceptors.

That is to provide more money for space rockets; less for manned aircraft. The emphasis appears definitely on increased development of the automatic processes of defence, and less on the use of manpower for sky fighting.

For this awakening to the increased possibilities of push-button warfare, Russia rather than the U.S. may be responsible. Over the years the U.S. made progress in space defence but Russian scientists showed the U.S. that even with less national wealth, they could match and exceed U.S. rocket development.

The Pentagon has been persistently subjected to increasing criticism, particularly after Russia hit the moon with a rocket two weeks ago. Shocked by Russia's brilliant effort, some U.S. military officials predicted it would be two or three years before the U.S. could close the missile gap, providing Russia made no further progress.

There is no indication Russia will be content with just hitting the moon. Both Russia and the U.S. want to get men into space; perhaps looking to the day when atomic weapons may not be land-based, but directed at some enemy country from an earth satellite orbiting in space.

IT is being suggested that the Canada Medal should be given to Mr. Vincent Massey to mark his distinguished contributions to the Canadian scene.

This might provoke a precedent which made similar award to all retiring governors-general automatic, but that is by the way. It is emergence of this medal from the mists that is intriguing.

For the Canada Medal is an almost classic mystery. If not exactly a "who-dun-it" it is in the category of "who-withheld-it" with a vengeance.

It is a long time since 1943 and a whole generation now entering college could be excused if they had never heard of this decoration.

Two years ago there was a flurry in Ottawa when someone suggested that two of the medals were missing. That is, two of the 14 specimen medals.

The Canada Medal itself, the real thing, has never been awarded.

The missing specimens, presumably, are still missing. One was said to have been kept as a souvenir by the late Mackenzie King, whose idea produced the medal, and the other was supposed to have gone to Winston Churchill, also as a collector's item.

Of the other 12, two went to King George VI for his collection; six were put away among service records, two to each branch; and four were locked in a government vault. They are still there, mouldering.

The medal was fashioned and launched with appropriate publicity in 1943. After that a great silence.

Did someone object to Mr. King's creation? Was there jealousy about who should get the first one? Why have succeeding governments been so close-mouthed about it? Is the medal to lie in a vault for ever and a day?

Nobody is giving the answers. In the face of such official blackness even Sherlock Holmes would have been baffled.

It is interesting to recall that when in opposition some members of the present government sought to probe the reason for the non-award of the decoration.

They pointed out, for instance, that during the war Canadian servicemen received 1,475 foreign decorations for gallantry or other meritorious service. Little Luxembourg awarded 19 and the Netherlands 513. Canada had no medal of its own to give in return to the troops of its allies, but 60 British awards were made on behalf of the Canadian government.

Sixty as compared to 1,475 and none of them Canadian in character. A rather humiliating situation.

This could have been remedied to some extent had the Canada Medal been authorized for distribution. It was designed primarily to reward Canadians for distinctive service by both servicemen and civilians above and beyond the performance of duty, but provision was made for its bestowal on citizens of other nations.

But after it was minted nothing happened.

Singularly enough the present federal government has also come under the spell of this great secret. Having the power to do what it queried the former government for not doing, it has turned as mum on the subject as its predecessors.

The ghost of some old-world castle, whose verity is handed down in private from one chieftain to another, is no more mysterious than the Canada Medal.

Isn't it about time Ottawa stopped playing coy and explained why the medal has been kept in mothballs? And who it was that put it there?

Red China Plays Its Own Game

By W. N. EWER, from London

IT has been, to say the least of it, embarrassing to the Chinese action on the frontiers of India and Tibet. Particularly because it came so shortly before his visit to the United States.

One of the purposes of his tour was to persuade the Americans that the Soviet Union and her allies are truly dedicated to the principle of "peaceful co-existence" and represent no menace of any kind to their neighbors. And Chinese actions are giving the very opposite impression. They are strengthening the belief that "international communism" is still a menace, and prepared to adopt aggressive tactics whenever it seems to suit their purposes.

Hence, surely, the remarkable statement by the official Soviet Tass agency earlier this month, giving the views of "Soviet leading circles"—a phrase which customarily means Mr. Khrushchev himself.

It minimized the events on the Tibetan border, which it referred to as "an incident." It accused "certain political circles" of exploiting them to "complicate the situation on the eve of the exchange of visits" between the heads of the United States and Soviet governments.

Even more remarkably, it did not, as one might have expected, support the Chinese case. It merely expressed the pious hope that China and India will "settle the misunderstandings" and "incidents."

Now is that only intended to convince the U.S. and the free world generally of Mr. Khrushchev's wish to act as a peacemaker wherever the peace is troubled? Or is it also as many commentators have assumed—intended as a counsel of moderation in Peking, as a warning that China cannot look for support from her Soviet ally if she continues to adopt a threatening attitude towards India, and to lay claim to territory generally regarded as Indian?

If the latter, one would have expected...

pected that there would have been diplomatic representations by the Soviet ambassador to China. There may have been. One cannot know. But if there were they had no effect. For on the very day of the TASS statement Mr. Chou en-Lai addressed one of his harshest communications to Delhi. It accused the Indian forces of "trespassing and provocation," and demanded their immediate withdrawal.

But whatever has passed between Moscow and Peking, there is no doubt that the Chinese government has considerably embarrassed the Soviet government and that it has "complicated the situation" for Mr. Khrushchev.

There are some who suspect that this may have been intentional; that Mao Tse-tung and Chou en-Lai do not at all like the idea of top-level Russo-American talks, and of a possible Russo-American detente.

I doubt this myself. This Chinese action, and these Chinese claims, appear to me to be part of the general expansionist tendency of Chinese policy. Not so much "communist" as "Chinese." The Communist government is reviving old imperial claims. The authority of Peking is being asserted throughout the territories of the Manchu empire, in a way that the emperors were unable to assert it. And Chinese colonists are being "settled" in the homelands of the non-Chinese peoples of the empire.

Hence the subjugation of Tibet. That has brought Chinese troops in some strength to the Himalayas for the first time for centuries and, once they were there, old imperial claims to the Himalayan areas were promptly revived.

That is a reflection which can hardly be very pleasing to the Russians. For the Chinese pressure outwards is not entirely to the south. Sinkiang, once strongly under Russian influence, has now, after the repression of a revolt of the Uighurs and Kazaks, been brought firmly under Chinese control. The Chinese settlers are moving in.

And the same is true of Inner Mongolia. There are beginnings of Chinese penetration into the Soviet satellite state of Outer Mongolia, not so long ago indisputably part of the Chinese empire.

It is only a century since the Tsars conquered and annexed from China what are now the maritime provinces of Siberia. The tiny but rich territory of Tannu Tuva was annexed and incorporated into the Soviet Union only 30 years ago, the only Asian territory to be annexed by a European Power this century and, as we are seeing, Chinese memories are long.

It is, of course, out of all question that, as things are, China could or would do anything to estrange herself from her powerful neighbor and ally but the thought must sometimes be in men's minds in Moscow that, if the Soviet Union were to become seriously embroiled with the West, Peking might be tempted to ask a price for its support.

In any case there is the fact that the Chinese Communist government is not being deterred from pursuing its chosen policy in the Himalayas by the fact that this policy is embarrassing the Soviet government.

Chinese policy, it seems clear to me, is going to be... Chinese.

OF GREGORY CLARK

YOU might just notice that Christmas this year is on a Friday, which means one of those special long weekend Christmases: and it is time you made your reservations on plane, train and hotel.

Crazy? Who's crazy? I tell you that both the CNR and CPR and TCA have already got a large number of reservations booked for Christmas. Some of the hotels are more than half booked for the Christmas weekend. It is only three months to Christmas, that means 90 brief days, here today and gone tomorrow, and among us are any number of people with enough remembrance of times past to recollect the frenzy of the last two weeks of December when reservations of any kind are impossible to obtain.

Who are these forlorned people? One thing I have noticed in a long life of much travel in sundry places of the earth, and that is that when I am lucky enough to get an upper berth by standing in line at the wicket 15 minutes before train time, who is it that I see, as I disrobe high in the air, calmly opening the door of the spacious de luxe drawing room at the end of the sleeping car?

It is some withered-up, sly, crafty-looking old coot in a blue serge suit and a starched collar who probably made his reservation last April.

Ottawamanship

A NEWCOMER who entered Canada with a British travel document forwarded it to Ottawa last month with a request for a Canadian certificate of identity.

The passport officer of the External Affairs Department sent him three application forms, and in a covering letter, wrote: "Your British document is held on file pending receipt of the above-mentioned forms." The newcomer filled in and returned the forms.

A few weeks later he again heard from the passport officer: "Before we may proceed with your application, it will be necessary for you to forward to this office the travel document with which you entered Canada as a landed immigrant."

Ingrid Becomes 'Fallen Idol'

Loves, Letters Of Bergman

By JOSEPH HENRY STEELE.

Ingrid's leading man in the picture that had brought Rossellini and Ingrid together was a 21-year-old fisherman named Mario Vitale, whom Rossellini picked off the beach at Salerno at $75 a week. Though Vitale courted and married Ingrid in the picture, Rossellini never permitted him to embrace or kiss her.

Work on the film progressed by fits and starts, depending on the director's moods.

When I caught her alone for a fleeting second, I said, "Ingrid, this can't go on this way. There's no sense to it. The only way you can stop all this is to see Peter and settle this business."

Suddenly Rossellini appeared and demanded to know what were we talking about.

Grand Gesture

Ingrid looked at him beseechingly: "We were talking about Peter. Joe thinks like I do. I must see Peter..."

Several hours later Alberto Manni came to tell us that his master had taken the boat to Messina.

Ingrid was distraught and convinced that Rossellini would do something rash. But the following day the "Maestro" returned having made his grand gesture.

RKO studio executives in Hollywood—insensitive to the emotional turbulence surrounding the production—kept hammering at Rossellini, Ingrid and Harold Lewis to be done with the work on Stromboli.

Rossellini's Rome attorney, Signor Verdozzi reported that Rossellini's action to obtain an Austrian annulment of his marriage was now at the mercy of an Italian court.

Frustrated Feeling

The question of a Bergman-Lindstrom showdown meeting was rehearsed, with Verdozzi arguing that it was a wise thing. Rossellini tugged at the lock of hair behind his left ear and continued to refuse to let Ingrid see her husband. I put my feelings into writing:

My dear Ingrid and Roberto: I have a frustrated feeling that neither of you quite comprehends the far-reaching impact of this situation. It is not lightly that some of the press refer to Ingrid as 'Fallen Idol.'

I beg of you, let us have done with recriminations; you are both equally guilty. Ingrid has had only one meeting with her husband since she left America, the one at Messina. That meeting was muddled with the presence of too many people and too many conflicting interests.

A second meeting, with only Ingrid and Peter present, could and should result in a definite, unalterable conclusion.

Deep in her heart Ingrid knows the injustice of not having it out with him, face to face.

I cannot believe that Peter can hold Ingrid against her will, once the meeting is held. There is no law on earth that compels a wife to stay with her husband against her wishes.

If it turns out Peter won't yield then there is nothing left for Ingrid but to file the papers herself and issue a statement that she has met with her husband, that he denies her a divorce, and that she had hoped and strived for an amicable separation, but that his attitude has left her no choice...

Ingrid's behavior in this entire matter is far from admirable, but beyond question it is a tribute to the woman in her that she cannot make this final break in cold blood...

Strained Silence

I delivered the letter to Rossellini in Ingrid's presence. "Please read this together," I said, "when you are alone and quiet."

The only reaction I got was a stretch of strained silence from Rossellini.

But they presently came to a decision—Ingrid would not meet with her husband, and a statement would be issued that, despite Lindstrom's resistance, she would immediately institute divorce

INGRID BERGMAN... shocking news

Now, for the first time, the whole story behind the headlines Ingrid Bergman has made as a star and as a woman who follows her heart, regardless of convention, is told by a confidant who knows every side of the story. This is the ninth instalment in an exclusive Colunist series.

proceedings in any country where it could be effectuated. "Now that you have determined on the next step, what about Pia?" I asked Ingrid.

"I already told you," she said with some impatience. "Peter would not keep her from me. She can be with me in the summertime."

"What of your community property?"

"Oh, I don't care about that. I feel free for the first time."

"Let's face it Ingrid, you may never make another picture."

Vigil Abandoned

"I love Roberto," she said, quietly. One day, when I am free, we shall be married. If he will let me I shall be happy to work as one of the crew—help cut his pictures—anything."

Some days later Rossellini telephoned Rome and was given the news that Rome carried a London dateline story that Dr. Lindstrom, upon hearing of Ingrid's impending announcement, had abandoned his vigil and returned to California.

"I am glad," said Ingrid. "This means that he has finally given up."

It turned out that Dr. Lindstrom had taken Pia from the John Vernon home and both had vanished. He first learned of Ingrid's divorce plans and "retirement" through the papers.

"Miss Bergman's statement was a shocking and stunning surprise for the Doctor," Dr. Lindstrom's secretary told reporters. "I myself, feel very sad, because I never believed for a minute all the stories connecting her with the Italian director. Dr. Lindstrom does not wish to make any public statement."

Dodgers, in Old Flatbush Fashion Capture National League Playoff

'Silent Walt' Sounds Off in Glee

Happy? Dodger manager Walt Alton was nearly delirious after Los Angeles beat Milwaukee 6-5 yesterday for National League pennant. When he got his breath, "Silent Walt" said: "No game gave me more of a thrill, but those three we won from San Francisco were the big ones... they gave us the push we needed."

Hodges Crosses Plate with Winner

As Gil Hodges' foot touched plate in 12th inning of frantic thriller, Dodgers entered the world series. Teammate Maury Wills (30) and jacket tossed from the dugout greeted happy veteran. But Hodges gave credit to young relief pitcher Stan Williams this way: "Superb, Stan, simply superb."

Braves Beaten, 6-5 On Throwing Error

LOS ANGELES—Thanks to a wild old Flatbush finish and a crazy bounce, Los Angeles Dodgers will meet Chicago White Sox in the 1959 world series.

Scoring three runs in a Brooklyn-type ninth inning to force overtime and then the winner on a bouncing infield hit three innings later, the Dodgers edged Milwaukee 6-5 in Los Angeles Coliseum yesterday to win the National League pennant playoff in two straight games. They won 3-2 Monday in Milwaukee.

The win more than made up for the fact that the Dodgers of Brooklyn lost the only other playoffs in National League history—to St. Louis in 1946 and the New York Giants in 1951.

And it had to be called a team victory as Los Angeles, plummeting to seventh after leaving Brooklyn, became the first club in league history to jump from seventh to first in a year.

The series opens Thursday in Chicago's Comiskey Park, with Roger Craig (11-5) going for the Dodgers, probably against Early Wynn (22-10) for the White Sox. Second game will be in Chicago Friday and the teams will travel Saturday. The battle resumes in the Coliseum Sunday, Monday and, if necessary, Tuesday.

Although the game was decided in the 12th, the ninth-inning comeback was the big thrill of the four hour and six minute marathon yesterday. It had been a fairly routine game with Braves ace Lew Burdette in charge and Milwaukee out of a week-long hitting slump, driving Don Drysdale out in the fifth and pecking away at relievers Johnny Podres, Chuck Churn, Sandy Koufax and Clem Labine.

But Burdette gave way in the ninth, Wally Moon, Duke Snider and Gil Hodges slapping singles to load the bases with nobody out. Milwaukee manager Fred Haney lifted Burdette for relief star Don McMahon, who faced one batter—Norm Larker.

Larker made the key hit, lacing a 1-1 pitch off the left field screen 251 feet away, scoring Moon and pinch-runner Bobby Lillis.

Haney rushed in Warren Spahn to face lefthanded-hitting John Roseboro, so Dodger manager Walt Alton had Furillo hit for Roseboro and Hodges scored as Furillo's faraway fly ball was caught by Aaron in the right-field corner.

Maury Wills singled and in came righthander Joey Jay, who got pinch-hitter Ron Fairly to force Wills. Junior Gilliam then sent Aaron to the right-field corner with a fine catch to force overtime.

LOADED BASES
Both clubs loaded the bases in the 11th but Dodger Stan Williams and Brave Bob Rush seemed ready to pitch all night before the disappointing crowd of 36,528. The lights were on as the bottom of the 12th began.

Moon popped out and Williams fled out before Hodges walked on a 3-1 pitch and catcher Joe Pignatano singled to left. Up came Furillo, 37, now.

On a two-strike pitch, he hit the ball sharply toward second base. Felix Mantilla, playing shortstop after Johnny Logan was hurt, raced to make the play but said the ball took a crazy bounce. His throw to first was low and Hodges raced home.

Then, after pointing to the sweep over San Francisco a couple of weekends ago as "the push we needed," timber-tall Walt explained:

WOULDN'T QUIT
"The farther this club went, the better it played. I began getting enthusiastic about this club in the spring and I became more and more enthusiastic when I found out we had a team that wouldn't quit."

Over in the Braves' dressing room, most of the second guessing was about the ninth-inning comeback rather than the tiebreaker.

Infielder Felix Mantilla, whose low throw on Carl Furillo's grounder let Hodges score, was close to tears, saying: "I was off balance when I grabbed the ball and it took a crazy bounce. It was the only play I had... I had to get rid of it."

How does Haney rate the White Sox? His answer: "You don't think about them unless you win—and we didn't win."

Wings' 'Big Three' Carry Their Club

Three of the greatest players in the history of professional hockey, including probably the greatest of them all, are scheduled to strut their stuff tonight at Memorial Arena when Victoria Cougars take on Detroit Red Wings in an exhibition game.

They will, of course, be rightwinger Gordie Howe, defenceman Red Kelly and goal-keeper Terry Sawchuk. They were the "big three" when the Red Wings were making like the New York Yankees of hockey by winning seven successive National Hockey League championships between the 1948-49 and 1954-55 seasons and then came back again for another helping in 1956-57.

They had help from such greats as Ted Lindsay and Sid Abel but Howe, Kelly and Sawchuk have a history in the NHL record books approached by few.

Picking the greatest player of all time will ever provide an unresolvable argument but 'Gordie Howe has credentials which can not be matched, not even by the fabulous Maurice Richard.

STILL AHEAD
Richard will remain as the game's greatest goal scorer for some seasons yet. He has 525 and is still 107 ahead of Howe, who is second on the all-time list with 418. But Richard, at 38, is seven years older than the big Detroit ace and Howe has averaged 38 goals a season for the last 10 seasons of his 13-season NHL career.

Howe plans to play seven more seasons, having an ambition to become one of pro hockey's few 20-year-men. Barring injury, he should wind up with close to 600, perhaps more, goals, a mark that may well be out of the reach of the Rocket. For those who doubt this, it can be pointed out that when Richard was Howe's current age, he had only 319 goals and Howe is one of the game's more rugged types, having so far missed only 32 league games.

MORE FABULOUS
Howe's record is even more fabulous than Richard's. In the past 10 seasons, Howe has averaged more than 80 points—38.3 goals and 42 assists per season. And he has kept up his production although the Wings have fallen on evil days, scoring 65 goals in the past two seasons, during which he was a marked man as the only big threat on the club.

Howe is the only player to have won the NHL scoring championship more than twice. He has won the Ross Trophy five times, four times in a row between the 1950-51 and 1953-54 seasons and holds the NHL point record for one season with 95.

He has also won the Hart Trophy as the most valuable player to his team four times, a feat equalled only by Eddie Shore and Howie Morenz. And in the last 11 seasons, Howe has been the all-star right-winger six times, second all-star choice four times. He holds the Stanley Cup record of 20 points—nine goals and 11 assists—for nine games in 1954-55. And he has been as low as fifth only once in the NHL scoring race during the past 10 seasons.

SIX ALL-STARS
Kelly, playing his 13th NHL season at age 32, has been on the NHL all-star team six times and has been second all-star twice. He is the only defenceman to have ever won the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy, awarded for ability, clean play and sportsmanship. And he didn't just win it once, he won it three times. In 12 full seasons of NHL play he has spent only 243 minutes in the penalty box.

And Kelly ranks as the all-time high scorer among defencemen with 156 goals and 288 assists for 444 points, an average of 37 points a season.

Sawchuk is, perhaps, the only player to ever have won three rookie awards in professional hockey, having been voted the best first-year man in the United States, American and National leagues.

HOT AVERAGE
He has been the all-star NHL goalie three times, second choice in three other seasons. He has 76 NHL shutouts and in five seasons held opposing clubs to less than two goals a game over the season. He has also won the Vezina Trophy three times.

Once again, Detroit's chances this season rests with Howe, Sawchuk and Kelly. The rest of the club, which finished on the bottom last season, is a collection of veterans and young prospects but Howe, Sawchuk and Kelly make it well worth while watching.

There are still a few hundred tickets left. They will be on sale during the day at Memorial Arena.

Garden Notes

Ivy Gets Flies 'Potted'

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I can't think offhand of any plant so commonly grown, yet so little understood, as the common English ivy. There is hardly a garden in our part of the world which hasn't got a bit of ivy tucked away somewhere, yet the plant has all kinds of interesting habits which are hardly ever noticed.

It isn't such a good idea to grow ivy up any trees of any particular value or beauty, as the vine puts out thousands of little aerial roots along its stem, each one ending in a tiny disc-like sucker which clings to its host and feeds upon it, but for clothing an old decayed or worthless tree, ivy is invaluable.

When such a tree becomes ivy-laden, it makes a most pleasant winter picture, and for covering unsightly walls or buildings, or for bleak walls facing the north where very little else will grow, no other evergreen is so reliable.

As long as an ivy has any climbing to do, involving the use of its aerial roots, the vine remains a juvenile and is incapable of putting out any flowers or fruit. Once it has reached the top of a wall or tree, however, the whole character of the plant changes. The leaves beyond this point are no longer shaped like those of a maple, but take on a more rounded appearance and are considerably larger. This is the sign that your ivy has come of age and is capable of bearing flowers and seeds.

Strangely enough, cuttings taken from this adult part of the vine never revert to their adolescent form but remain sexually mature. Such plants are not vines at all. They never climb, never put out aerial roots, and adopt a shrub-like form of growth.

While a climbing ivy will ordinarily take many years to reach its adult form, I have some growing on the ground to clothe a dry bank of poor, sandy soil in one corner of the garden, and this one started last month to bear its inconspicuous globular green flowers.

I was reading in a very old garden book recently that the blossoms of the ivy secrete a particular kind of nectar which flies and other insects find quite irresistible once they have tasted it. Moreover, it is supposed to have an effect upon them similar to a hooker of Mr. Seagram's moose milk on a human tippler; so I went out the other day to have a look.

Sure enough, the green flowers were covered with a host of flies, including a lot of big, fat bluebottles, and on the ground were dozens more lying there, feebly waving their legs in the air, obviously fried and headed for a glorious hangover!

When ivy is grown on walls, it needs clipping hard back every year. This is best done in April just before new growth begins, and all the dead leaves and rubbish should be brushed out at the same time. Better wear a stout pair of gloves on this job, for there are little hairs on the stems which sometimes cause intense irritation to tender skins.

Ivy is as easy to propagate as mint. If you need a few more plants, simply chop off a hunk well provided with aerial roots and bury the stem with the leaves sticking out. The aerial roots will change themselves into normal earth roots and the plant will grow away strongly.

Conversation Piece

Love Crosses Race Lines

For the past week two books have been sitting on my desk side by side — "Add a Dash of Pity" by Peter Ustinov (Little, Brown) and "Nature and Man's Fate" by Garrett Hardin (Rinehart).

One is a book of short stories, the other a popular book on genetics. They have nothing in common. Or so I thought — until I happened to read the jacket blurb of "Add a Dash of Pity." This is what Peter Ustinov says about himself:

"I have Russian, French, German, Italian, Spanish, Armenian, Ethiopian — and once you have got these, why stop? — blood in my veins. . . I often feel Russian, as often French, but there is no national occasion which brings a lump to my throat, no anthem which sets my foot tapping. In time of peace I only wish to belong to the nationality of civilized men."

And here is a passage from Professor Hardin's book on genetics:

"To the biologist it is clear that the best chances for man's longtime survival depend on the fragmentation of the species into many separate breeding populations . . . each differentiating into a different race . . . The wisdom of man's dream of One World is highly questionable, to put the matter mildly."

In other words, if Professor Hardin were in charge of such matters, he'd take care of it that people like Peter Ustinov would not be brought into this world.

I think that would be too bad. Ustinov is one of the most brilliant men now alive. He's a highly successful playwright, a fine actor, a first-class raconteur, a polished short-story writer — and, if necessary, he can entertain a roomful of people splendidly by imitating the conversation of two Egyptians traveling in an airplane. If he's a fair sample of what can come out of a racial melting pot, then mixed marriages of all kinds are a blessing and should be encouraged by all means.

To Dr. Hardin, who believes in eugenics, this would be heresy. He thinks that science — his brand of science — is far more reliable than the romantic impulse that drew together Mr. Ustinov's Russian grandfather and his German grandmother or his Italian great-grandmother and her Armenian-Ethiopian husband (or whichever way it was).

For Dr. Hardin, the ideal seems to be artificial insemination. "It is seldom," he writes, "that the noble girl will choose her husband as carefully as a mature physician will choose a semen donor. On the average, donor insemination upgrades the human stock."

Oh come, come, Dr. Hardin. This kind of thinking has been out of fashion for a quarter of a century and your book isn't apt to revive it now. People won't stand for it.

They'd much rather fall in love across racial lines and produce — perhaps — another Peter Ustinov.

Hollywood Today

'Kim Novak Slept Here'

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Kim Novak must have slept on a super-sized lavender sheet, to judge by the ties made from it and sold in Europe and Australia. The cravats bear the legend, "Kim Novak slept here."

Billie Burke is reading the proofs on her second book, "With Powder on My Nose," a sequel to "A Feather on My Nose."

Michael Ronne stated in London that he's the loneliest man in town. He never suffered thus in Hollywood where there are four women to every man.

Dana Wynter's 84-year-old grandfather jetted back to West Berlin after staying with Dana and grandson-in-law Greg Rautzer for two weeks. Professor Heinrich Wynter is a world authority on cartography—mapmaking.

Terry Moore is living! Husband Stuart Kramer bought a yacht and will sail Terry to Toyon Bay where she films "Platinum High School."

English director Anatole de Gruenwald—he made the very successful film version of Shaw's "Doctor's Dilemma" for Metro—is looking forward to working in Hollywood for the world market. And, wonder of Gruenwald, he makes no secret of the chief reason he is coming here—to make money.

Maurice Chevalier gets car, chauffeur, best hotel suites and all expenses for self and accompanist on Quantas Airways, for his concert tour in Australia next year. But now there is some doubt whether Maurice can make the trip. His "Fanny" starring role is due to start in the early spring in Marseilles. And he doesn't know when he will finish his "can-can" movie here at 20th-Fox.

Remarkable octogenarian Somerset Maugham is off to Japan to do some more writing. "The Letter," one of Maugham's early stories, will be made again on the screen. Bette Davis was the original star, then Eleanor Parker.

Trust Ernest Hemingway to be sympathetic to a would-be bullfighter. When a young man jumped into the arena during a bullfight in Madrid and was yanked out by the gendarmes, Hemingway slipped the boy some cash to pay his fine.

Despite his 4-3-3-3 distribution, South wisely refrained from opening with one no-trump. Fifteen high card points and no intermediates (tens and nines) are just not enough for a vulnerable no-trump.

He crossed to dummy's ace, and led the club queen. West won the king and, convinced that his partner had the spade queen, he led a low spade. Much to West's chagrin South produced the spade queen, and ran his clubs and diamonds for 10 tricks and a fine score.

Last reports had West still talking to himself, but actually he was the victim of an unreadable piece of deception as we have seen in a long time.

B.C. Chamber Group to Meet Cabinet

Highway Extension Sought

Provincial government will be asked to extend the Island Highway 80 miles north of Campbell River to Port Hardy when a B.C. Chamber of Commerce delegation meets the cabinet tomorrow morning.

The delegation will also seek more and better west coast access roads, notably the Alberni-Bamfield link and the Elk Valley, Gold River, coast route.

Expected to dominate the briefs presented to the cabinet is the financial plight of B.C. municipalities.

Heading the delegation will be Ronald W. J. Angus of Vancouver, president of the B.C. chamber. With him will be representatives from close to 30 B.C. chambers and boards of trade.

Victoria members of the group will be George H. Wheaton and Eric Mallett.

A quarterly meeting of B.C. chamber directors is scheduled to take place at the Empress Hotel this evening. Tomorrow the directors will host the cabinet for a Union Club luncheon.

Education Forum Tonight

All the facts on the cost of education will be aired tonight at a public meeting at 8 o'clock in North Ward School.

The open-to-everyone gathering, sponsored by the Greater Victoria school board, will take the form of a panel discussion among eight persons—three interviewers and five interviewees.

Early This Fall

Ross Bay Cemetery Rally Set

A meeting of all concerned with Ross Bay Cemetery will be called early this fall to give further consideration to ways of ensuring rehabilitation and permanent care of the cemetery, Ald. D. J. Proudfoot said yesterday.

Ald. Proudfoot, chairman of the city's Ross Bay Cemetery committee, told a meeting in June that donations totaling $2,000,000 were needed to return an adequate income for the work.

Meanwhile, improvement of the cemetery in some respects has been started. Council passed a bylaw this summer providing for removal of stonework from neglected graves, and parks department employees have been removing crushed gravel from many plots to make maintenance, especially grass-cutting, easier and more economical.

'Army' Scouts Meeting Set

First meeting of a new Boy Scout troop organized and sponsored by the Salvation Army, will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Citadel, 757 Pandora.

Interested boys, 12 or older, were asked yesterday by leader Frank Glover to attend the meeting.

Defence Minister

United Germany Unlikely Soon

Dr. Franz Josef Strauss, West Germany's defence minister, despairs of the two Germanys being quickly reunited.

There are two extreme courses that would lead to reunification, he said yesterday in a press conference at HMC Dockyard, and neither is acceptable. One is war and the other is acceptance by West Germany of the Communist ideology and social system.

"We will have to find out," he said, "if there is a third solution, with no war and no surrender. The one real solution would be free elections in the whole of Germany, in full compliance with the United Nations Charter."

"I don't say that free elections must be the first action. I would like to emphasize that such elections must be held at the point where they are free elections."

On his first trip to Canada, Dr. Strauss visited and was taken on a tour of Dockyard yesterday morning, lunched at Royal Roads Canadian Services College and saw RCAF Station at Comox in the afternoon. He was accompanied by Gen. Joseph Kambuber, chief of the West German air force, and a party of officials.

The defence minister said that he hoped the principles of reaching agreement on Ber-

Fluoridation Issue

Painting Teeth 'No Test at All'

JOHN NUTT

Seen In Passing

John Nutt, addressing envelopes. (He is a volunteer office worker at the Art Gallery, a job he has taken to rehabilitate himself after a stroke six years ago left him almost completely paralyzed. Single, he lives at 1737 Rockland Avenue. His hobbies are art and bird-watching.) ... Campbell Mayes dressed like a farmer during a country fair sale. ... Napier Durand looking for a pair of shoes. ... Gerry Copeland reading a magazine. ... Jeff Phillips talking about Leechtown. ... Don Murray getting ready for an art class. ... Bob Wallace, going for lunch. ... Don Bule out for a morning stroll.

A so-called fluoridation test being conducted in Greater Victoria schools bears "no similarity" to fluoridation of water supplies, according to a prominent Victoria dentist.

Dr. W. W. McLuhan, secretary of the Victoria Dental Society and a keen advocate of water fluoridation, told the Colonist that a plan to paint school children's teeth with stannous fluoride over a one-year period to convince Victorians of the value of fluoridation "is no test at all."

What is more, he added, the "one year" test may very well take 2½ years from its inception to final evaluation.

The test is being conducted by the Greater Victoria school board at the request of the Victoria-Esquimalt Union Board of Health.

The board evolved the test when earlier this month it suddenly reversed its stand of June 9 when it voted unanimously to support fluoridation referendums in December.

CONVINCE VICTORIANS

On Sept. 8 the health board voted to recommend that no fluoridation referendums be held this year and that the test be conducted in order to convince Victorians that fluoridation is desirable.

The year-long test was outlined by Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, district medical health officer, as one in which one group of children whose teeth had been painted with stannous fluoride would be compared with another group whose teeth were not treated.

Said Dr. McLuhan of the test, "there is absolutely no parallel between painting the teeth with stannous fluoride and drinking water containing sodium fluoride."

Aside from the fact that an entirely different chemical is used, the dentist said, the method of administration is totally different.

One system, he pointed out, involves the absorption into the bloodstream and deposit in the teeth of a minute amount of sodium silico fluoride from the water supply, the other the direct application of an eight per cent solution of stannous fluoride to the teeth.

"There is no similarity at all," he stated.

REDUCES DECAY

Painting the teeth with stannous fluoride usually reduces decay 30 per cent at a cost of $8 to $15 per application, he continued while the application of sodium silico fluoride via the water supply cuts decay 70 per cent and costs about 10 cents per person per year.

He said the values of fluoridation in preventing dental decay have been under study for 85 years and the results have been so conclusive "that the AFL and CIO have sent directives to their memberships telling them to back fluoridation moves and to initiate them where necessary."

Dr. Hugh Clarke, school board dentist conducting the tooth-painting test, said he believed the results of the one-year experiment might be available in 13 or 16 months.

Dr. Mahaffy said yesterday she had no objection to December referendums as long as fluoridation "doesn't become a political football."

Servants Gather Here This Week

Some 90 delegates from all over the province will gather at Victoria's Empress Hotel for the annual convention of the B.C. Government Employees' Association Friday and Saturday.

Keynote speaker will be Dr. Stuart Jamieson, professor of economics and political science at UBC, who will speak on "The Provincial Government and Industrial Relations in B.C." at the Friday noon luncheon.

New demands are expected to be made to Premier Bennett for the release of the Carrothers report on bargaining rights of civil servants, and there will undoubtedly be a post-mortem on the March strike of civil servants with a view to any future action that might be taken.

Voters Show Apathy In Listing Names

Fewer resident and tenant electors than last year may be able to vote in the December civic elections in Victoria.

City Clerk M. F. Hunter expressed surprise as well as disappointment yesterday at the apparent lack of interest in registering for the voters' list.

Deadline for registration, in all the Greater Victoria municipalities, is 5 p.m. today.

Mr. Hunter said that in the city, it appeared the number of registrations of new tenant and resident electors wouldn't outweigh the number of last year's electors who had failed to return slips confirming their continued eligibility.

Registered owners of property are automatically included in the voters' lists.

Pearkes Will Report At Oct. 16 Meeting

Defence Minister George Pearkes will report to his constituents at a meeting Oct. 16 at 8 p.m. at Doncaster Elementary School auditorium.

It will be the first opportunity the defence minister has had to talk to his own Esquimalt-Saanich constituents since he was elected in the March, 1958, election.

Topic of his address will be "Progress and Achievements in Two Years of Conservative Government."

He is hoping to meet as many of his constituents as possible.

Half-Century of Governments 'Misused' B.C. Resources

'Gutted Ruthlessly' Kidd Tells Tories

"Gross misuse" of B.C.'s natural resources was laid to the door last night of all the provincial governments of the last 50 years.

"We've gutted the southern half of this province ruthlessly," Dr. Desmond Kidd told 75 persons at the annual meeting of the Oak Bay Progressive Conservative Association.

EXPLOITATION

It's been nothing but exploitation "and to hell with the next generation," said the Tory candidate for Vancouver-Point Grey.

"We've never ever conserved a resource seriously in this province. We thought timber would last forever, but we know better now."

LACKS INTEGRITY

Dr. Kidd said the Social Credit government is "thinking only of exploitation, not of the public ...

"This government lacks integrity. It must go. There are too many things it's been off base on."

DO SOMETHING

The Tory candidate said it is now up to provincial Conservatives to do something about it.

"We can't sit idly by ... and we must do it together as a team."

LONG RECORD

"We can't do it," he said, "by squabbling among ourselves. There is too long a record among Conservatives—federally and provincially—of wrangling among ourselves."

Asked after his address if he favored public ownership of utilities, Dr. Kidd said:

SPLIT UP MIDDLE

"As far as the B.C. Electric is concerned, this party has no policy on this ... the party is split up the middle on this, says Mr. Finlayson."

As far as buying the BCE, he said, "the province is too close to bankruptcy to buy it anyway."

FAVORS BOTH

Dr. Kidd said that, as an engineer, he favored both public and private ownership.

"I'd like to see a publicly-owned utility used as a check on a private utility. It could show up the private utility if it is run right." The reverse could also be true, he added.

TOUGHEST PROBLEM

The toughest problem facing B.C. is the labor situation, Dr. Kidd said.

"I don't know what the answer is ... but it must be solved or we will lose all our export markets."

COMPLETE DEADLOCK

He said the big labor unions and the big corporations are almost at a point of complete deadlock.

"They only reach a settlement after mutual exhaustion."

GETTING POWERFUL

Dr. Kidd said, "Labor can't live outside the law ... labor is getting very powerful."

"On the other hand, the working man has rights and can't be trampled upon ... that's not right."

SINGULARLY UNLOVED

Returning to the Socials, Dr. Kidd said "people are fed up with this government. It is singularly unloved government."

"They are only in politics for what they can get out of it."

Tory Clarifies 'Proxy' Remark

Rodney Beaven, an official of the Saanich Peninsula Progressive Association, has asked aggressive Conservative Association, has asked that remarks he made recently regarding proxy votes be clarified.

Mr. Beaven, in speaking against the use of such votes at conventions, was quoted as saying "proxies were used to get Anscomb in, and many others."

"What I think I really said," he pointed out yesterday, "was, 'proxy votes were used at the Anscomb-Bennett convention and many others.'"

Big Esquimalt Vote Wanted by Reeve

Reeve A. C. Wurtele said this week he wants to make Esquimalt a "leading contender" for the shield to be offered by the provincial government for the highest turnout of voters in civic elections.

Prospects Good for Villa

$1,250,000 'Village' Reality by 1962

Kiwanis Chief Says

A completed Kiwanis Village with an estimated value of some $1,250,000 could become reality by 1962.

Reginald Harris, president, last night told the annual meeting of Kiwanis Village Society "prospects are better today than at any time in the past seven years" for building a $500,000 villa and 34

New Yards At Saanich

Saanich public works committee last night voted $77,000 to construct a new equipment yard and buildings to replace the Douglas and Island Highway site being purchased by Dominion Construction Ltd. for a shopping centre.

New facilities will be situated on a 7½-acre site at McKenzie and Quadra. Reeve George Chatterton said tenders for the new buildings will probably be called within a month.

He also outlined arrangements for financing the estimated $500,000 cost of the villa, which can be built if necessary in three phases, each on a separate contract.

The society will have approximately $100,000 in its cash reserve by the end of the year, said Mr. Harris. The provincial government grant towards the project will amount to $150,000. Two one-night blitzes, this December and next, and a capital fund drive scheduled for spring, 1961, will be launched to raise the balance.

He predicted that proceeds of the three campaigns will provide enough money to pay for the villa and perhaps make a start on the additional cottages. He said it is "not inconceivable" that the entire project will be completed within 10 years of the society's inception in 1953.

Samuel Hill, director, reported there were 69 applications for accommodation in the 50 cottages rented by the society to elderly couples. Sixteen new couples were accommodated and at least 39 others remain on the active list.

Family Court Champions Given Reason to Hope

New hope was brought to Greater Victoria proponents of a family court for this area when it was announced by Attorney-General Bonner yesterday that B.C.'s second family court has been established at Cloverdale in the district of Surrey.

The attorney-general's department still has under study a plan to establish a family and juvenile court in Greater Victoria area and an early announcement is expected.

25-Year-Old Decorations Adorned Cake

An amethyst and silver necklace worn by Donna Marie Rutherford at her marriage to Mr. Thomas Alexander Hetherington, recently was an engagement present from the groom and had belonged to his mother.

A gown of orchid pink taffeta was chosen by the bride's attendant, Miss Joan Whitwell. Her bouquet was Esther Reid daisies.

Clyde Rose, the groom's brother-in-law, acted as best man and ushers were James Stouffer and Maurice St. Louis.

A small reception was held in the up-Island home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. D. Rasmussen.

Newlyweds are making their home in Victoria following a honeymoon motoring through Washington.

Canon George Biddle officiated.

The charming bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white lace, slightly en train, the sleeves coming to a point over the wrist. The bateau neckline was bordered with pearls and her veil was chapel length. She carried tall roses and white carnations.

The bride had five attendants—Miss Vicki Fowler and Mrs. William Gordon of Vancouver and Mrs. Ronald Henning of Victoria, as well as Mrs. Glen Beauchamp of Vancouver and Miss Kathy MacMillan, flower girl, Victoria.

Groomsman was Mr. John MacMillan and ushers were Mr. Don Gilliam, Mr. Hugh Creighton and Mr. Hugh Brown.

After the reception at Holyrood House, for a motor trip to California, the bride changed into a dressmaker suit with beige and gold accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald will reside at 949 Southgate Street.

Gudbrand-Barnes

The marriage took place, on Saturday, in Ganges United Church, of David Neil Gudbrand, RCN, and Florence Frances Barnes, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Barnes, Ganges. Rev. C. H. Whitmore, Duncan, officiated, assisted by Mr. Daryl Logan.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a gown of white satin, cut on princess lines with a draped back falling in folds to form a short train. Her embroidered tulle veil was held in place by a circlet of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations and roses.

Bridesmaid, Miss Norma Nelson, wore a pale blue nylon over satin dress, ballerina length with bouffant skirt, with a circlet of flowers in her hair and carried a bouquet of pink gladioli and asters. Two flower girls, Heather and Heather McManus (cousins of the bride) were in short, full-skirted dresses of pale blue and pink embroidered organza respectively, with circlets of flowers in their hair and colonial bouquets of pink and blue marquerites.

Mr. Jack Wood was best man and ushers were, Ronald Barnes, (brother of the bride) and Kenneth Moore.

A reception followed in Legion Hall where the bridal toast was proposed by Dr. A. Francis. Following a motoring trip to the Interior, the young couple will reside in Victoria.

In China

Women Work Hard

By MARGARET AITKEN

SHANGHAI — On the outskirts of Shanghai is one of the largest communes in China. It is called the July 1st commune and is made up of 150,000.

It was here I learned something of the commune system. Communes are a new way of life in China—and a rugged way, especially for women.

EMANCIPATION

It is compulsory that women work on the land, although this is not the way the authorities put it. I was told the People's Government had "bestowed glorious emancipation upon women, relieving them of household drudgery so that they could take part in useful labor."

To Western eyes the exchange of household drudgery for "useful labor" was a bleak one indeed. The physical demands made on women were beyond all description.

WHY MORE WOMEN?

The day I visited the July 1st commune, there were 20,000 women workers in the fields and 12,500 men. Why, I asked, were there more women than men doing hard labor in the fields?

The answer was that men from the communes worked in factories or "other jobs." Undoubtedly the other jobs meant military service and women are being compelled to work at agriculture.

NO MECHANIZATION

There is practically no mechanization whatsoever on the communes. Fields of vegetables are watered with two watering cans carried on a woman's shoulders through a bamboo stick. Paddy fields are irrigated by human feet. Five or six women turn the wheels that pump the water. Soil is turned by spades and hoes, not plows. Working hours are 5.30 a.m. until 8.30 at night, with a short rest period at noon.

For this useful labor, the women gave up household drudgery, and the day I was there, the government announced it had overestimated production figures for communes and exhortations were pouring forth to make even greater efforts.

Weavers Open Season

New members welcomed to the first meeting of the Victoria Hand Weavers' Guild this season were Mrs. D. Christensen, Mrs. M. Thompson, Mrs. D. B. Sparling, Mrs. B. G. Ryan, Mrs. Bernice Guest, and Mrs. P. Peterson. Many prize-winning exhibits were on display, as the guild was well represented in the weaving sections at the PNE, CNE, and North and South Saanich Fair.

At Vancouver Miss Marjorie Hill was the high winner, with five first prizes (shopping bag of original design, sampler of original design, cushion cover, handspun flax, and native dyed handspun yarn), two seconds (pair of linen towels and handspun wool), and one third (table mats). She also received a special award for the largest number of exhibits of exhibition quality.

Mrs. Betty Kinnis took first prize for drapery and second for tweed yardage. At Toronto Mrs. Jean Anderson won a first prize for place mats and third for tweed yardage, and Mrs. Kinnis a third for drapery.

At Saanichton Mrs. Joyce Holden won five firsts (linen towel, apron, table mat, scarf, and homespun wool). Mrs. George Anstey a second (apron), and Mrs. Kinnis a third (table mat).

Miss Olive Garrood modelled a suit she had woven and tailored herself this summer.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE HELPS BREAK DOWN FATS IN THE DIGESTIVE TRACT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fats... actually breaks them down. It is an established fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fats are broken down and form a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

In your digestive tract, liver bile helps break down fats the same way. Many of the foods you eat reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down these fats... for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills' exclusive formula of vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fats in your digestive tract.

So when you feel sluggish, head-achy, nervous and need a laxative, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Carter's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today!

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: My daughter-in-law is scared stiff of spiders. I think it's nonsense to go through life with foolish fears. My mother taught me when I was a child that the way to conquer fear is to face it. I decided to try the technique on my daughter-in-law, and this is what happened:

I took a small spider and placed it on Valerie's arm to prove to her that they are harmless. She screamed as if she was being murdered. My son came running in, white as a sheet, Valerie almost passed out. She ran to the sink and splashed cold water on her face. Then she had to take a tranquilizer and go to bed.

Now I ask you, isn't that some show to put on because of a harmless little insect? Please print this letter to let them know what idiots they are. They are burned up at me and I'm the one who should be mad.—UNAFRAID.

Upside Down

Dear Ann: Our 15-year-old niece thinks she's Picasso. She has painted a picture that looks the same upside down and sideways. It makes no sense, and she had the nerve to say it is her impression of ME.

She wants to sell us the painting for $25. I wouldn't hang it in the tool shed. My wife is furious, but we're afraid of offending the kid. What would YOU do? —UNCLE ZEKE.

Dear Ann: I'd give her $10 for the painting, hang it in my home for a few months and make it a conversation piece.

Confidential to Long Eye-lashes: If this boy has lived next door to you for six years he's known you're there. Give him the small hello and make yourself scarce.

Tired of Sloppy Joe's: Yes I have a suggestion: Students in a Buffalo, New York high reading material on rearing children. All mothers have days when they feel like failures, but when these feelings persist something is seriously wrong. Your husband doesn't sound like much help. You need his support, not his criticism. Get some reading material for him, too.

Dear Ann: I'm a young mother who feels like a failure. My children are 4, 3 and 2 and honestly, I feel sorry for the poor things. I scream at them constantly, have not patience and spank them several times a day. I know this is wrong.

They're always hitting each other, breaking things, and getting into mischief. To be perfectly frank, I can't handle them.

My husband says it's all my fault and he's right. I'm a nervous wreck and hate to face the next day. Don't get the idea I don't love my kids. They mean the world to me, but I don't know how to control them. Can you help? —FRAYED NERVES.

Dear Frayed: First see a doctor and get a check-up. You may be rundown physically. Sometimes this makes people short-tempered and irritable. Next contact a mental health clinic and get some

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

BRA DESIGNS FOR SLIGHT WOMEN. A lovely writes: Please advise me. My trouble is getting a bra that fits comfortably. When the cups fit my bosom, which is small, the band cuts into my diaphragm.

The answer: Many small-breasted women find themselves in this squeeze play. It is mostly due to selecting bras that are inadequately constructed for your figure.

If you analyze your figure, you will find that in proportion to your bosom you have a wide back or a large rib cage, or both. Your bras, consequently, must be of a design that accommodates the sturdy areas, as well as the slight.

A suitable selection has a one-inch elastic band across the diaphragm; across the back, it has either a wide elastic band or generous elastic insets. Such a construction allows for breathing room, and keeps you from feeling bound in or constricted.

To insure comfort, always try on a new style of bra before you buy. Be certain it fits your ribs and back like a second skin. For you, that is the test of a good fit. Cup sizing is seldom a problem these days, when small-size cups are made on large-size bands. Too, cups can be darted to fit, and should be when necessary.

ENHANCED BOSOMLINE

For a more attractive bosom, write me in care of this newspaper, requesting my five-cent pamphlet, Enhanced Bosomline.

Callas Disrupts Onassis Harmony

Millionaire's Wife Sings Low Notes

By ROSEMARY BOXER

ROME—"The first million is the hardest," said Tina Onassis.

Not long ago I sat on a sunny, sandy beach in Venice beside the much loved Grecian beauty, wife of Aristotle Onassis, the Greek shipping magnate. Her conversation was simple and direct, but full of sadness as she recounted her life and love with her husband.

"I met Aristotle 13 years ago. I was only 16, he was 40 but already everyone respected him as an older person. I was captivated. A year later we were married."

MAKING NEWS

For the past 13 years Aristotle Onassis and Tina have been making news with new-found fortunes, new babies, new possessions, new titles. Tina is known as one of the "world's best dressed" and Aristotle one of the "world's wealthiest and most powerful."

This summer they made headline news by inviting the Winston Churchill, Maria Meneghini Callas and her husband to tour the Mediterranean on their magnificent yacht Christina.

PUBLICITY STUNT

Many Italians who dislike Maria Callas claim it was a cheap publicity stunt promoted by her. Every second of this cruise was organized and publicized... not a detail was missed. But this yachting party which began as a dream in London turned out to be a nightmare in Milan.

Maria Callas after ten years of marriage with Batista Meneghini decides she no longer loves him or needs him.

Aristotle Onassis after 13 years of marriage decides he needs more than his wife Tina for a good friend like the friendly Callas.

DARLING TINA

Poor Meneghini was shattered. Every time Maria Callas was interviewed she always mentioned her husband: "Darling Tina has been like an affectionate father, always attentive and such a wonderful friend."

TINA ONASSIS

So naturally everyone, including Tina, thought he was not only indispensable but irreplaceable in the eyes of his wife.

Now his high pedestal has been left hanging empty in mid-air.

The controversy between Meneghini and Maria Callas at the moment is purely financial. Their total estate is approximately $8,000,000. Meneghini feels he is entitled to at least $6,000,000 as he was originally her financial backer. However, Callas, sometimes known as "The Tigress," won't accept these terms.

Why I Came Back To Christianity

"Is there a satisfying religion for the modern educated man?" Lin Yutang, famous Chinese philosopher who once wrote "Why I Am A Pagan" recently started his millions of followers by returning to Christianity. In October Reader's Digest he explains why he has "come home again," back to the only religion which establishes a personal relationship with God. Get Reader's Digest today: 35 articles of lasting interest.

Maria Callas and Onassis were introduced to each other three years ago and since then have met in various parts of the world.

Last June the shipowner suddenly revealed a new interest in opera when he sent out 5,000 invitations for a reception in honor of "The Tigress" at the Dorchester Hotel in London. His new interest shifted from the cultural aspect to a more personal one.

Rumor now has it that Onassis has hired a team of architects to design the most lavish and luxurious opera house. The site—Monte Carlo.

HIGH NOTES

While Aristotle and Maria are hitting the high notes, Tina, on the low end of the scale, is alone in Paris with the children.

What this all means is anyone's guess. Maybe they are just friends. Maybe it is a business relationship. Maybe it is a publicity stunt.

BYRON PRICE LOT CENTRE

1214 QUADRA STREET
We have specialized in obtaining better lot listings. If you are going to build a new home, there is nothing that will protect your investment more than the proper lot and its location.
From our experience in the development of better areas in Victoria, we are in a position to advise you of better building sites and their future. e.g. Some of our developments are: Sherwood Oaks, Alpine Crescent, Camosun, San Juan, Huntington Park, Sherwood, Bywood, Montclair Park, Solihill, etc.
From the results of independent surveys that have been taken, we have a good idea of the probable increase in value of land. This increase in value of a home built on a good lot is even greater. e.g. House built in Sherwood Oaks has increased in price as high as 20% of cost.
We refrain from handling lots in the poorer districts because a home built on that lot will not hold its value. This has been borne out by the difficulties people are having in selling their homes in subdivisions located in poorer areas. We sincerely hope that the public is aware of the importance of their future home as an investment.
Here are two choice lots in areas where the land values are increasing at the greatest rates in Victoria.
SAY JUAN $1350
High location, large lot, percolation tested, no rock.

No Pick-Ups In Nanaimo --Magistrate

NANAIMO—Arthur Cyr of Port Alberni was criticized by Magistrate Harold Hine yesterday after being fined $25 for possession of liquor.

"There's a disgusting aroma surrounding this," remarked the magistrate.

Cyr, 18, was discovered with a case of beer in his car.

He told the court he and some friends had come from Port Alberni and had "picked up" two Nanaimo girls. He denied ownership of the beer.

Magistrate Hine said he would not stand for youths coming into "our town" and picking up girls. He said it was obvious that Cyr intended to supply the girls—probably under 21—with liquor.

A delegation of residents from the area was told that in the meantime the public works department will do everything within its power to keep existing ditches in the area clear of debris.

Reeve George Chatterton said next year's drainage project for the area—roughly described as in the vicinity of Haley, Ferndale, Grandview and Paul's Terrace—will be given "top priority."

ANEURIN BEVAN
... election attack

Bevan Charges:

Macmillan Using Ike as 'Puppet'

NEWBURY, England (Reuters)—Aneurin Bevan, the Labour party's foreign affairs spokesman, Tuesday night accused Premier Macmillan of portraying President Eisenhower and Nikita Khrushchev as his "puppets."

Bevan was cheered, booed and heckled in turn by 1,000 persons—at one point he called the hecklers "morons"—at an election rally here as he blasted Macmillan on several counts and called him a liar and a deceiver.

He declared that Macmillan "has been taking a special amount of credit for Russian Premier Khrushchev and Eisenhower having reached a measure of agreement."

He said this was "very curious" because "for more than two years Labour party leader Hugh Gaitskell and I have been trying to initiate conferences at the summit."

"Suddenly Macmillan woke up to the idea that summit talks would be all right."

"Now he says Eisenhower and Khrushchev are puppets—I pulled the strings!"

Macmillan said in a speech

Canada's Militia 'Out of Shape' Says Ex-Officer

OTTAWA (CP)—Major Harry Pope, who recently left the army to become executive assistant to CCF House Leader Hazen Argue, Tuesday night criticized the government's dependence on the militia for civil defence.

Canada will get only two hours' warning of any nuclear air attack, he said at an election meeting in suburban Eastview.

He asked how the militia, with its members in civilian jobs, could get in shape in time to deal with the aftermath of such an attack.

Maj. Pope spoke in support of Dennis Kalman, CCF candidate in the Oct. 5 federal byelection in Russell constituency.

He also criticized the defence council, which is composed of the defence minister, deputy minister, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, heads of the three armed services, and chairman of the Defence Research Board.

He said that in any decisions to be made, the last four of those are interested only in their own services, while the deputy minister is interested only in cutting expenditures.

And in an apparent reference to the recent appointment of Associate Defence Minister Sevigny, who lost a leg in the Second World War, he commented:

"The mere fact of losing a leg doesn't make you a military strategist."

Tuesday night at Glasgow, Scotland: "Now we know that it is all clear for the summit. I am proud to think that it was the British government which opened up the road."

Little Augie Missed Date With Senators

NEW YORK (AP)—Little Augie Pisano's rendezvous with death also cancelled an appointment with the Senate rackets committee, the Queens district attorney disclosed Tuesday.

The district attorney, Frank D. O'Connor, made the information public when he asked the Senate committee for its records on Pisano, who was shot to death Friday night in his car in Queens.

Killed with the 62-year-old gangster was Mrs. Janice Drake, 32, blonde wife of comedian Alan Drake.

Dodgers Win Thriller, World Series Starts Thursday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers did it!

For the first time in three tries, the Dodgers won a National League pennant playoff Tuesday, defeating Milwaukee's defending champion Braves 6-5 in 12 innings—after scoring three runs in the ninth for a 5-5 tie.

That gave the Dodgers a two-game sweep of the best-of-three playoff. They now move into the opener of the world series against Chicago's American League champion White Sox Thursday at Comiskey Park in Chicago.

With the third, fourth and, if necessary, fifth game set for Los Angeles' massive, 94,000-seat Coliseum, this should be the richest world series in history. Comiskey Park, which seats 46,550, will be the site for the first two and, if necessary, sixth and seventh games of the best-of-seven series for the world championship.

Games in Chicago start at 10 a.m. PST and on the West Coast at 1 p.m. PST.

The Dodgers, first National League team ever to rise to the pennant after a seventh place finish the year before, put across the deciding run on a two-out throwing error by Braves' shortstop Felix Mantilla.—(See Sport section.)

Save Your Tears, Youths Are Bums

NEW YORK (AP)—Magistrate Vincent Rao Tuesday angrily broke up a tearful reunion of parents with seven youths brought before him as street gang slayers.

"I have no pity," he said. "If you didn't let your boys run wild through the streets, they wouldn't be here. These are not just boys. They're bums. They reflect their parents. Now all of you get out of here."

HUGE HOAX OR MAN'S HOPE? JOHN D ASKS OF K's PLAN

Texas

Airliner Crashes, 33 Dead

WACO, Tex. (AP)—A New York-bound turbo-jet airliner exploded in the air and crashed late Tuesday night, apparently killing all 33 persons aboard.

Brantford Airways said the plane, a Lockheed Electra, took off from Houston, Tex., en route to New York via Dallas, Tex. It carried 27 passengers and six crew members.

The big plane blew up high overhead, one witness said, and crashed on a central Texas farm with a roar "like a jet breaking the sound barrier."

Wreaths on Bridge

Alexandra Visits River Kwai

BANGKOK, Thailand (Reuters)—Princess Alexandra stood on the bridge over the River Kwai Tuesday with two men who survived the ordeal of the "railway of death" whose rails lay rusting beneath their feet.

The princess drove 60 miles from Bangkok to place wreaths in the two cemeteries on the banks of the Big and Little Kwai Rivers where lie some of the thousands of troops who died prisoners of war of the Japanese while building the Burma-Thailand Railway.

The two men on the bridge with her were Mr. Philip Hay, attached to the Duchess of Kent's household, who is accompanying the princess on her tour, and Col. C. G. W. Anderson, VC, who flew from Sydney to represent Australia on the pilgrimage.

Bruce Bairnsfather

Creator Of Old Bill Passes

LONDON (Reuters)—Capt. Bruce Bairnsfather, creator of the Old Bill cartoon character of the First World War, died Tuesday. He was 71.

Old Bill—a British Tommy—grew out of Bairnsfather's knowledge of trench warfare. His phrase "If yer knows of a better 'ole go to it" became a classic.

During the Second World War, Bairnsfather dusted off Old Bill and he went to war as official war cartoonist attached to the U.S. Army in Europe.

B.C.'s Fifth Fatality

Polio Kills Girl Who'd Had Shots

KAMLOOPS (CP)—A five-year-old Indian girl who had received three anti-polio vaccine shots has become British Columbia's fifth polio fatality this year.

The unidentified girl, who was admitted to hospital here Saturday, died that afternoon. Doctors said an autopsy Tuesday revealed she died of polio.

Full Trade Or Less Aid U.S. Warns

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A cabinet officer hinted yesterday that the United States might be tempted to reduce its overseas aid program unless other free nations quit discriminating against U.S. goods.

Treasury secretary Robert B. Anderson, addressing the governing boards of the world bank and international monetary fund, said bluntly these countries must cease such practices. He aimed his remarks particularly at Western Europe and Japan.

Two Dead

Gracie Slams South

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI)—Hurricane Gracie slammed into the U.S. mainland with 140-mile-per-hour winds and torrential rains yesterday and churned through the Carolinas leaving a wide path of destruction in its wake.

At least two deaths were attributed to the storm, which hammered Charleston, Beaufort and Walterboro, S.C., with its full fury and spread destruction along 150 miles of low country isles, inlets and beaches.

STEPPED ON WIRE

Gerald Sheffield, 18, was killed at Statesboro, Ga., when he stepped on a live power line felled by the storm, and a man was killed near Beaufort when a huge tree crashed down on his car.

Some 5,000 refugees took shelter in evacuation centres in the Charleston-Beaufort area and other thousands were sheltered from the gales and tides lashing the coast from Savannah, Ga., to Wilmington, N.C.

DAMAGE IN MILLIONS

Property damage was expected to be in the millions in Charleston and along 150 miles of exposed isles, beaches and moss-hung plantations which bore the brunt of the storm's inland sweep.

Large sections of South Carolina were without electricity as darkness fell and Beaufort, Walterboro, Edisto Beach and Folly Beach were completely cut off.

Peiping Parley

Khrushchev Joins Red World Chiefs

TOKYO (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev arrived in Peiping yesterday to join what amounted to a general summit meeting of red leaders from all over the world.

Radio Moscow said the Soviet leader was greeted on his arrival by Chinese Communist chief Mao Tse-tung and other Chinese leaders as he stepped out of the TU-114 jet airliner that brought him to Peiping from Moscow.

Chinese Communist premier Chou En-Lai and Soviet Communist party secretary Mikhail A. Suslov, who had arrived earlier, also were at the airport to greet the Soviet premier, Moscow radio said.

Other Communist leaders, gathered in Peiping for ceremonies marking the 10th anniversary of the Communist regime in Peiping, waited anxiously to greet Khrushchev and confere with him.

As Khrushchev's plane passed over the Communist Mongolian people's republic, he sent this radio greetings: "I send you, the government, the central committee of the party and the Mongolian people as a whole a most cordial welcome and best wishes."

Border Tiff Stirs Andes

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—An Argentine-Chilean border dispute flared yesterday when a Chilean officer led 20 soldiers in three jeeps across Argentina's Andean border in Salta province.

U.S. Visit 'Epochal' Diefenbaker Says

SASKATOON (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Tuesday night that Khrushchev's visit to the United States was an "epochal one" and added the question: "Do Khrushchev's words constitute a colossal hoax or evidence of mankind's hope of a continuing easing of tension?"

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke at a banquet in connection with the University of Saskatchewan's 50th anniversary celebration. The remarks were included in a partial text of the address released in advance of delivery.

The Canadian prime minister said:

FIRST PENETRATION

"The first penetration into outer space, the first contact with the moon, the harnessing of nuclear power—these and other unparalleled scientific achievements are taking place in a world depressed by fear, yet uplifted with hopes for the future. Humanity's hopes alternate between danger and promise. Are the results of technological advance to be the bitter fruits of war or the fragrant comforting breath of lasting peace?"

"Premier Khrushchev's visit to the United States has been an epochal one. The question which has now to be answered is whether Soviet Communism will take a militant and warlike form, or whether Mr. Khrushchev's professions of peaceful co-existence can be taken at their face value. Do Khrushchev's words constitute a colossal hoax, or evidence of mankind's hope of a continuing easing of tension?"

WHAT OF RESULTS?

"What of the concrete results so far as they can now be assessed? The determination that the Berlin question be settled by peaceful negotiation is a welcome and significant advance.

"There are signs of progress on disarmament. In his address to the United Nations, Mr. Khrushchev advocated general disarmament of all states. He proposed that within four years all armaments and weapons, except those needed for internal police purposes, should be destroyed.

DETAILED SUGGESTIONS

"As an alternative to his proposals for total disarmament, Mr. Khrushchev offered a number of more detailed suggestions. They have been put forward before, and have not provided the basis for agreement. They lack an element which is a precondition of any successful disarmament agreement—mutual willingness to accept appropriate measures for inspection.

"Disarmament without inspection would be a fateful and tragic course for the free nations. The touchstone of success for any disarmament plan must be the system of verification that goes with it. Yesterday in Moscow Mr. Khrushchev indicated he might be prepared to some way towards meeting this basic requirement.

"Canada has a special interest in the disarmament problem since this country is a neighbor of the Soviet Union. In the past the Soviet Union has expressed concern at the possibilities of a surprise attack over the polar regions, and has even implied that Canadian territory might be used for aggressive purposes. "As prime minister, I have repeatedly stressed, since September, 1957, Canada's readiness to open all or part of her territory to aerial and ground inspection, providing that the U.S.S.R. grants the same rights on an equitable and reciprocal basis.

"Canadian universities can encourage more scientific and cultural exchanges and visits between our country and the U.S.S.R. and other Iron Curtain countries, and the expansion of student exchanges between various countries, particularly in Asia and Africa, will assure greater dividends in meeting the contest for the hearts of men than in any other way, not excluding economic plans.

PERSONAL CONTACTS

"An accumulation of personal contacts can do more than an infinity of words to communicate the quality of life, ideas and attitudes, through exchanges in science, culture and education, and in the course of tourist visits. Thus, so long as visits are positive in purpose and are of genuinely mutual interest and advantage, the government is always ready to encourage such exchanges."

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said a Commonwealth conference on education in July at Oxford, England, adopted a plan under which 1,000 students and teachers in the next few years will be receiving scholarships and fellowships provided by Commonwealth countries with Canada paying one quarter the cost.

STEPPING UP

He added that Russia is stepping up its program to provide for students from Asia and Africa, for students in the U.S.S.R., or any other country inside the Iron Curtain.

B.C. Chamber Group to Meet Cabinet

Highway Extension Sought

Provincial government will be asked to extend the Island Highway 80 miles north of Campbell River to Port Hardy when a B.C. Chamber of Commerce delegation meets the cabinet tomorrow morning.

The delegation will also seek more and better west coast access roads, notably the Alberni-Bamfield link and the Elk Valley, Gold River, coast route.

Expected to dominate the briefs presented to the cabinet is the financial plight of B.C. municipalities.

Heading the delegation will be Ronald W. J. Angus of Vancouver, president of the B.C. chamber. With him will be representatives from close to 30 B.C. chambers and boards of trade.

group will be George H. Wheaton and Eric Mallett. A quarterly meeting of B.C. chamber directors is scheduled to take place at the Empress Hotel this evening. Tomorrow the directors will host the cabinet for a Union Club luncheon.

Education Forum Tonight

All the facts on the cost of education will be aired tonight at a public meeting at 8 o'clock in North Ward School.

The open-to-everyone gathering, sponsored by the Greater Victoria school board, will take the form of a panel discussion among eight persons—three interviewers and five interviewees.

Ross Bay Cemetery Rally Set

A meeting of all concerned with Ross Bay Cemetery will be called early this fall to give further consideration to ways of ensuring rehabilitation and permanent care of the cemetery, Ald. D. J. Proudfoot said yesterday.

Ald. Proudfoot, chairman of the city's Ross Bay Cemetery committee, told a meeting in June that donations totaling $2,000,000 were needed to return an adequate income for the work.

Meanwhile, improvement of the cemetery in some respects has been started. Council passed a bylaw this summer providing for removal of stonework from neglected graves, and parks department employees have been removing crushed gravel from many plots to make maintenance, especially grass-cutting, easier and more economical.

'Army' Scouts Meeting Set

First meeting of a new Boy Scout troop organized and sponsored by the Salvation Army, will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Citadel, 757 Pandora.

Interested boys, 12 or older, were asked yesterday by leader Frank Glover to attend the meeting.

Defence Minister

United Germany Unlikely Soon

Dr. Franz Josef Strauss, West Germany's defence minister, despairs of the two Germanys being quickly reunited.

There are two extreme courses that would lead to reunion, he said yesterday in a press conference at HMC Dockyard, and neither is acceptable. One is war and the other is acceptance by West Germany of the Communist ideology and social system.

"We will have to find out," he said, "if there is a third solution, with no war and no surrender. The one real solution would be free elections in the whole of Germany, in full compliance with the United Nations Charter."

"I don't say that free elections must be the first action. I would like to emphasize that such elections must be held at the point where they are free elections."

"On his first trip to Canada," Dr. Strauss visited and was taken on a tour of Dockyard yesterday morning, lunching at Royal Roads Canadian Services College and saw RCAF Station at Comox in the afternoon. He was accompanied by Gen. Joseph Kambuber, chief of the West German air force, and a party of officials.

The defence minister said that he hoped the principles of reaching agreement on Ber-

Fluoridation Issue

Painting Teeth 'No Test at All'

JOHN NUTT

Seen In Passing

John Nutt, addressing envelopes. (He is a volunteer office worker at the Art Gallery, a job he has taken to rehabilitate himself after a stroke six years ago left him almost completely paralyzed. Single, he lives at 1737 Rockland Avenue. His hobbies are art and bird-watching.) . . . Campbell Mayes dressed like a farmer during a country fair sale. . . Bob Wallace going for lunch. . . Don Bule out for a morning stroll.

A so-called fluoridation test being conducted in Greater Victoria schools bears "no similarity" to fluoridation of water supplies, according to a prominent Victoria dentist.

Dr. W. W. McLuhan, secretary of the Victoria Dental Society and a keen advocate of water fluoridation, told the Colonist that a plan to paint school children's teeth with stannous fluoride over a one-year period to convince Victorians of the value of fluoridation "is no test at all."

What is more, he added, the "one year" test may very well take 2½ years from its inception to final evaluation.

The test is being conducted by the Greater Victoria school board at the request of the Victoria-Esquamalt Union Board of Health.

The board evolved the test when earlier this month it suddenly reversed its stand of June 9 when it voted unanimously to support fluoridation referendums in December.

CONVINCE VICTORIANS

On Sept. 8 the health board voted to recommend that no fluoridation referendums be held this year and that the test be conducted in order to convince Victorians that fluoridation is desirable.

The year-long test was outlined by Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, district medical health officer, as one in which one group of children whose teeth had been painted with stannous fluoride would be compared with another group whose teeth were not treated. Said Dr. McLuhan of the test, "there is absolutely no parallel between painting the teeth with stannous fluoride and drinking water containing sodium fluoride."

Aside from the fact that an entirely different chemical is used, the dentist said, the method of administration is totally different.

One system, he pointed out, involves the absorption into the bloodstream and deposit in the teeth of a minute amount of sodium silico fluoride from the water supply, the other the direct application of an eight per cent solution of stannous fluoride to the teeth.

"There is no similarity at all," he stated.

REDUCES DECAY

Painting the teeth with stannous fluoride usually reduces decay 30 per cent at a cost of $8 to $15 per application, he continued while the application of sodium silico fluoride via the water supply cuts decay 70 per cent and costs about 10 cents per person, per year.

He said the values of fluoridation in preventing dental decay have been under study for 85 years and the results have been so conclusive "that the AFL and CIO have sent directives to their memberships telling them to back fluoridation moves and to initiate them where necessary."

Dr. Hugh Clarke, school board dentist conducting the tooth-painting test, said he believed the results of the one-year experiment might be available in 15 or 16 months.

Dr. Mahaffy said yesterday she had no objection to December referendums as long as fluoridation "doesn't become a political football."

Servants Gather Here This Week

Some 90 delegates from all over the province will gather at Victoria's Empress Hotel for the annual convention of the B.C. Government Employees' Association Friday and Saturday.

Keynote speaker will be Dr. Stuart Jamieson, professor of economics and political science at UBC, who will speak on "The Provincial Government and Industrial Relations in B.C." at the Friday noon luncheon.

New demands are expected to be made to Premier Bennett for the release of the Carothers report on bargaining rights of civil servants and there will undoubtedly be a post-mortem on the March strike of civil servants with a view to any future action that might be taken.

Voters Show Apathy In Listing Names

Fewer resident and tenant electors than last year may be able to vote in the December civic elections in Victoria.

City Clerk M. F. Hunter expressed surprise as well as disappointment yesterday at the apparent lack of interest in registering for the voters' list.

Deadline for registration, in all the Greater Victoria municipalities, is 5 p.m. today.

Mr. Hunter said that in the city, it appeared the number of registrations of new tenant and resident electors wouldn't outweigh the number of last year's electors who had failed to return slips confirming their continued eligibility.

Registered owners of property are automatically included in the voters' lists.

Defence Minister George Pearkes will report to his constituents at a meeting Oct. 16 at 8 p.m. at Doncaster Elementary School auditorium.

It will be the first opportunity the defence minister has had to talk to his own Esquamalt-Saanich constituents since he was elected in the March, 1958, election.

Topic of his address will be "Progress and Achievements in Two Years of Conservative Government."

He is hoping to meet as many of his constituents as possible.

New Fire Boat Step Closer

PORT ALBERNI — The harbor commission and two timber firms have made commitments totalling $10,500 toward providing a fire boat for Port Alberni harbor.

According to a report at council meeting from a special committee set up last April, the harbor board has promised $2,500, MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., $7,500, and Tahsis Co. Ltd., $500, toward the estimated cost of $19,300 for a hull and equipment.

Council accepted a recommendation of the committee that other owners, lessees and agents of waterfront properties be approached to determine what further financial support can be expected.

The committee, consisting of harbor board member Bryce Blake, Mayor Loran Jordan, Fire Chief William Venables and E. G. Stroyan of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., outlined operating problems connected with the present fireboat which was purchased in 1946.

Recommended as a replacement was a large type hull, 36 feet 9 inches in length with a 12-foot, nine-inch beam, equipped with a 1,500 gallon per minute pump, plus auxiliary equipment.

The committee also recommended that the council determine the amount of the city's support of the purchase. The city had paid one-third of the cost of providing the original vessel.

PORT ALBERNI — Accounts passed at council meeting Monday night totalled $139,509.36. Of the amount $118,000 was on requisition of district 70 school board.

NANAIMO—Freezing equipment at Nanaimo's Civic Arena will soon be worn out.

Then the parks and recreation commission must begin considering its replacement.

Arena manager Harry Wipper said yesterday that the machinery would hold out for this skating season. The arena opens for public skating Oct. 9.

Commissioners hope to have included in the winter work program a $5,000 development of Mansfield Park.

TOFINO — More than 25 young Ucluelet and Tofino swimmers were awarded beginners badges at a recent meeting of the Kennedy Lake Swimming Club.

ERRINGTON — A large black bear was killed near here recently by 17-year-old hunter George King.

He shot the bear at a tree farm near Englishman River Park.

A cougar was seen two weeks ago in the village of Errington by three residents.

GANGES — Only "a few" of the 83 children registered in summer swim classes failed to pass examinations, Mrs. J. W. A. Green said at a recent meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Winners of the garden contest sponsored by the group were: Terry Mollet, Dawn and Richard Kyler, Jean Croft, Sandy McLeod, David Beech, Rhonda Lee, Marion Hollings, Jamie Stevens, Bryan Beech, Christopher French and Donna Daykin.

PORT ALBERNI — Council members expressed satisfaction in the provincial government's proposal to pay grants toward civic projects undertaken in winter works programs.

At council meeting Monday a letter from the office of the minister and inspector of municipalities announced the government's intention of paying 25 per cent of approved labor costs as a further incentive to winter employment projects.

"This means we can double our program," Ald. Norman Odgers stated.

Last year, with federal grants of 50 per cent of the cost of labor, the city undertook parks improvement work involving $5,000 of municipal funds.

Federal participation will continue on the same basis.

During council meeting, Ald. Jack Perry last year's winter employment committee chairman for the district, announced that the season's first meeting will be held Wednesday in Port Alberni Hall.

PORT ALBERNI — A Nanaimo man pleaded guilty in Port Alberni court this week to two charges laid after RCMP investigated an accident Saturday on Third Avenue South.

Leslie Batta was charged with impaired driving and with driving without a licence. Magistrate W. E. McLeod imposed fines totalling $100 and ordered a year's further suspension of the driver's licence, suspended in 1957.

A total of $350 damages resulted when Batta's car struck a parked vehicle and a third car was involved in the smash-up.

Wilfred P. Mueller pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge in connection with an accident at Third and Burde Friday night. He was fined $35.

On the same day Carl E. L. Rohlen's car collided with another vehicle at Tenth and Argyle after Rohlen failed to stop at the stop sign while driving east on Argyle. He was fined $35. Total damages were assessed at $400.

Family Court Champions Given Reason to Hope

New hope was brought to Greater Victoria proponents of a family court for this area when it was announced by Attorney-General Bonner yesterday that B.C.'s second family court has been established at Cloverdale in the district of Surrey.

The attorney-general's department still has under study a plan to establish a family and juvenile court in Greater Victoria area and an early announcement is expected.

100 Hides Collected In Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Kiwanis Club of Nanaimo has made a good start towards its target of 1,000 deer hides by the end of the hunting season.

Nearly 100 hides have been collected by Kiwanians. Last year, the club made $1,200 by selling the hides to a Vancouver tannery.

Hunters are asked to deposit the hides of shot deer in colored bins on the highway between Ladysmith and Northwest Bay.

Qualicum Beach

Six Months At Oakalla For Youth

QUALICUM BEACH — A Nanaimo youth was sentenced to six months in the young offenders' unit at Oakalla when he appeared before Magistrate Thomas Hadfield in Qualicum Beach police court on a charge of driving a car with criminal negligence.

Harold Joseph Jacobs, aged 18, was also ordered to pay a fine of $25 or serve 15 days in default for driving a vehicle without a driver's licence. He pleaded guilty on both counts.

The charges arose from a wild drive, resembling a cops and robbers chase, between Fanny Bay and Parksville after the RCMP had endeavored to stop the teenaged driver for speeding in a radar zone. He drove through a road block, narrowly missing police officers and cars and was finally caught in Parksville.

Anyone in Distress?

Looking forward to searching for persons in distress is Duchess Guardian, with owner Mrs. Alfred Best of Crofton, the only dog in this district trained to track humans. It took top prizes Sunday at B.C. trials on the mainland. (Colonist photo by Charles Thompson.)

Duchess from Crofton

Tracking Dog 'A Natural'

CROFTON—It was "sort of an accident" that Mrs. Alfred Best's two-year-old German shepherd "Duchess Guardian" took top honors Sunday at the B.C. tracking dog trials at Richmond.

"No one was more surprised than I," said Mrs. Best. Duchess was the only Island dog who passed the rigid RCMP-supervised tests.

It is the first tracking dog in this area. "He just seemed a natural tracker," said Mrs. Best, a member of the Cowichan Dog Obedience Club tracking section that started last spring.

Mrs. Best said she knows "almost nothing" about training dogs. But with professional trainer Hunter Smith, Mill

Bay, of El Hunt Kennels, they have been training her since the trials.

One day two of her three children wandered away from home and she sent Duchess after them. They were found more than a mile away in a deserted bunkhouse at the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. paper mill.

"If there is ever a need in Cowichan to look for someone we hope Duchess will be as successful," she said.

Duchess' performance before RCMP Corp. Ian Hall, Prince George, won for her the initials "T.D." behind her name. The "title," said Mrs. Best, will be passed down to her pups.

She won them for tracking on a half-hour-old scent for 500 yards through a stubble field in just six minutes.

MADRID — A Spanish military court has sentenced Luis Alberto Solana Madarriga, 23-year-old nephew of a top political foe of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, to three years in prison for "military rebellion."

Cowichan Pioneer

Hatchery Builder Dies

DUNCAN—Edward Spencer Lomas, 86, one of the first white children born here and builder of Lake Cowichan's first fish hatchery, died yesterday at King's Daughters' Hospital.

He was the son of W. H. Lomas, the district's first school teacher and later the first Indian agent, and Jane Alexander, daughter of David Alexander who preempts 200 acres of land in 1862 that became part of the city.

The well-known carpenter had lived for the last 50 years at Lake Cowichan. He was predeceased by his wife, Dora Frances, in 1942.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Gladys Howe, Lake Cowichan, and Mrs. Phylis Sunderland, Maple Bay; two sisters, Mrs. W. M. Prevost, Duncan, and Mrs. W. E. Clague, Victoria.

Rev. W. E. Greenhalgh will officiate at the service (Thursday) at 2 p.m. in St. Peter's Anglican Church. Burial will be in the family plot in the churchyard cemetery.

Port Alberni Appeal Due

PORT ALBERNI — Port Alberni's appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada may be before the court anytime after Oct. 9, council was told on Monday night.

The city is appealing from a B.C. appeal court decision in the matter of the fixed assessment agreement with MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd.

City clerk H. D. Thain, who will attend the court session in Ottawa with city solicitor E. A. Dinsmore, said that court is scheduled to open on the ninth of the month and he understands that the case is among those at the top of the list.

LEADS THE WORLD

Canada is the world's greatest producer of nickel, titanium and platinum metals and asbestos.

NANAIMO—Arthur Cyr of Port Alberni was criticized by Magistrate Harold Hine yesterday after being fined $25 for possession of liquor.

"There's a disgusting aroma surrounding this," remarked the magistrate.

Cyr, 18, was discovered with a case of beer in his car.

He told the court he and some friends had come from Port Alberni and had "picked up" two Nanaimo girls. He denied ownership of the beer.

Magistrate Hine said he would not stand for youths coming into "our town" and picking up girls. He said it was obvious that Cyr intended to supply the girls—probably under 21—with liquor.

It's Dodgers vs. White Sox After Thriller

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers did it!

For the first time in three tries, the Dodgers won a National League pennant playoff Tuesday, defeating Milwaukee's defending champion Braves 6-5 in 12 innings—after scoring three runs in the ninth for a 5-5 tie.

That gave the Dodgers a two-game sweep of the best-of-three playoff. They now move into the opener of the world series against Chicago's American League champion White Sox Thursday at Comiskey Park in Chicago.

With the third, fourth and, if necessary, fifth game set for Los Angeles' massive, 94,000-seat Coliseum, this should be the richest world series in history. Comiskey Park, which seats 46,550, will be the site for the first two and, if necessary, sixth and seventh games of the best-of-seven series for the world championship.

Games in Chicago start at 10 a.m. PST and on the West Coast at 1 p.m. PST.

The Dodgers, first National League team ever to rise to the pennant after a seventh place finish the year before, put across the deciding run on a two-out throwing error by Braves' shortstop Felix Mantilla.—(See Sport section.)

K's PLAN HOAX OR HOPE?

Texas

Airliner Crashes, 33 Dead

WACO, Tex. (AP)—A New York-bound turbo-jet airliner exploded in the air and crashed late Tuesday night, apparently killing all 33 persons aboard.

Branniff Airways said the plane, a Lockheed Electra, took off from Houston, Tex., en route to New York via Dallas, Tex. It carried 27 passengers and six crew members.

The big plane blew up high overhead, one witness said, and crashed on a central Texas farm with a roar "like a jet breaking the sound barrier."

Wreaths on Bridge

Alexandra Visits River Kwai

BANGKOK, Thailand (Reuters)—Princess Alexandra stood on the bridge over the River Kwai Tuesday with two men who survived the ordeal of the "railway of death" whose rails lay rusting beneath their feet.

The princess drove 60 miles from Bangkok to place wreaths in the two cemeteries on the banks of the Big and Little Kwai Rivers where lie some of the thousands of troops who died prisoners of war of the Japanese while building the Burma-Thailand Railway.

The two men on the bridge with her were Mr. Philip Hay, attached to the Duchess of Kent's household, who is accompanying the princess on her tour, and Col. C. G. W. Anderson, VC, who flew from Sydney to represent Australia on the pilgrimage.

Bruce Bairnsfather

'Old Bill' Creator Passes

LONDON (Reuters)—Capt. Bruce Bairnsfather, creator of the Old Bill cartoon character of the First World War, died Tuesday. He was 71.

Old Bill—a British Tommy—grew out of Bairnsfather's knowledge of trench warfare. His phrase "If yer knows of a better 'ole go to it" became a classic.

During the Second World War, Bairnsfather dusted off Old Bill and he went to war as official war cartoonist attached to the U.S. Army in Europe.

Full Trade Or Less Aid U.S. Warns

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A cabinet officer hinted yesterday that the United States might be tempted to reduce its overseas aid program unless other free nations quit discriminating against U.S. goods.

Treasury secretary Robert B. Anderson, addressing the governing boards of the world bank and international monetary fund, said bluntly these countries must cease such practices. He aimed his remarks particularly at Western Europe and Japan.

Two Dead

Gracie Slams South

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI)—Hurricane Gracie slammed into the U.S. mainland with 140-mile-per-hour winds and torrential rains yesterday and churned through the Carolinas leaving a wide path of destruction in its wake.

At least two deaths were attributed to the storm, which hammered Charleston, Beaufort and Walterboro, S.C., with its full fury and spread destruction along 150 miles of low country isles, inlets and beaches.

STEPPED ON WIRE

Gerald Sheffield, 18, was killed at Statesboro, Ga., when he stepped on a live power line felled by the storm, and a man was killed near Beaufort when a huge tree crashed down on his car.

Some 5,000 refugees took shelter in evacuation centres in the Charleston-Beaufort area and other thousands were sheltered from the gales and tides lashing the coast from Savannah, Ga., to Wilmington, N.C.

DAMAGE IN MILLIONS

Property damage was expected to be in the millions in Charleston and along 150 miles of exposed isles, beaches and moss-hung plantations which bore the brunt of the storm's inland sweep.

Large sections of South Carolina were without electricity as darkness fell and Beaufort, Walterboro, Edisto Beach and Folly Beach were completely cut off.

At midnight the storm was centred a short distance north-west of Columbia, S.C., and moving on a northerly course at about 10 or 12 mph.

IN VIRGINIA

The weather bureau said the storm would move into Virginia today.

Meanwhile, Hurricane Hannah which sprang up Monday night while Gracie was bearing down on the U.S. coast, was reported moving along a westerly course about 425 miles south of Bermuda with winds of 100 mph.

Peiping Parley

Khrushchev Joins Red World Chiefs

TOKYO (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev arrived in Peiping yesterday to join what amounted to a general summit meeting of Red leaders from all over the world.

Radio Moscow said the Soviet leader was greeted on his arrival by Chinese Communist chief Mao Tse-tung and other Chinese leaders as he stepped out of the TU-114 jet airliner that brought him to Peiping from Moscow.

Chinese Communist premier Chou En-lai and Soviet Communist party secretary Mikhail A. Suslov, who had arrived earlier, also were at the airport to greet the Soviet premier, Moscow radio said.

Other Communist leaders, gathered in Peiping for ceremonies marking the 10th anniversary of the Communist regime in Peiping, waited anxiously to greet Khrushchev and confer with him.

As Khrushchev's plane passed over the Communist Mongolian people's republic, he sent this radio greeting: "I send you, the government, the central committee of the party and the Mongolian people as a whole a most cordial welcome and best wishes."

Khrushchev, fresh from his talks with President Eisenhower, ostensibly flew to Peiping to attend the official anniversary ceremonies marking defeat of the Chinese Nationalists a decade ago.

He left the Soviet capital after a stopover of less than 30 hours on his return from the United States. Khrushchev is expected to brief Chinese leaders on his talks with President Eisenhower.

Chinese newspaper editorials Tuesday said Khrushchev's talks with President Eisenhower and other American leaders would help to ease world tension. They declared that China awaited Khrushchev's arrival "with eagerness and the most friendly sentiments."

Border Tiff Stirs Andes

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—An Argentine-Chilean border dispute flared yesterday when a Chilean officer led 20 soldiers in three jeeps across Argentina's Andean border in Salta province.

Progress Sign In Disarming

SASKATOON (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Tuesday night that Khrushchev's visit to the United States was an "epochal one" and added the question: "Do Khrushchev's words constitute a colossal hoax or evidence of mankind's hope of a continuing easing of tension?"

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke at a banquet in connection with the University of Saskatchewan's 50th anniversary celebration. The remarks were included in a partial text of the address released in advance of delivery.

The Canadian prime minister said:

FIRST PENETRATION

"The first penetration into outer space, the first contact with the moon, the harnessing of nuclear power—these and other unparalleled scientific achievements are taking place in a world depressed by fear, yet uplifted with hopes for the future. Humanity's hopes alternate between danger and promise. Are the results of technological advance to be the bitter fruits of war or the fragrant comforting breath of lasting peace?"

"Premier Khrushchev's visit to the United States has been an epochal one. The question which has now to be answered is whether Soviet Communism will take a militant and warlike form, or whether Mr. Khrushchev's professions of peaceful co-existence can be taken at their face value. Do Khrushchev's words constitute a colossal hoax, or evidence of mankind's hope of a continuing easing of tension?"

What of results? "What of the concrete results so far as they can now be assessed? The determination that the Berlin question be settled by peaceful negotiation is a welcome and significant advance."

"There are signs of progress on disarmament. In his address to the United Nations, Mr. Khrushchev advocated general disarmament of all states. He proposed that within four years all armaments and weapons, except those needed for internal police purposes, should be destroyed."

DETAILED SUGGESTIONS "As an alternative to his proposals for total disarmament, Mr. Khrushchev offered a number of more detailed suggestions. They have been put forward before, and have not provided the basis for agreement. They lack an element which is a precondition of any successful disarmament agreement—mutual willingness to accept appropriate measures for inspection."

"Disarmament without inspection would be a fateful and tragic course for the free nations. The touchstone of success for any disarmament plan must be the system of verification that goes with it. Yesterday in Moscow Mr. Khrushchev indicated he might be prepared to come some way towards meeting this basic requirement."

"Canada has a special interest in the disarmament problem since this country is a neighbor of the Soviet Union. In the past the Soviet Union has expressed concern at the possibilities of a surprise attack over the polar regions, and has even implied that Canadian territory might be used for aggressive purposes."

"As prime minister, I have repeatedly stressed, since

September, 1957, Canada's readiness to open all or part of her territory to aerial and ground inspection, providing that the U.S.S.R. grants the same rights on an equitable and reciprocal basis.

"Canadian universities can encourage more scientific and cultural exchanges and visits between our country and the U.S.S.R. and other Iron Curtain countries, and the expansion of student exchanges between various countries, particularly in Asia and Africa, will assure greater dividends in meeting the contest for the hearts of men than in any other way, not excluding economic plans."

PERSONAL CONTACTS

"An accumulation of personal contacts can do more than an infinity of words to communicate the quality of life, ideas and attitudes, through exchanges in science, culture and education, and in the course of tourist visits. Thus, so long as visits are positive in purpose and are of genuinely mutual interest and advantage, the government is always ready to encourage such exchanges."

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said a Commonwealth conference on education in July at Oxford, England, adopted a plan under which 1,000 students and teachers in the next few years will be receiving scholarships and fellowships provided by Commonwealth countries with Canada paying one quarter the cost.

STEPPING UP

He added that Russia is stepping up its program to provide for students from Asia and Africa, for students in the U.S.S.R., or any other country inside the Iron Curtain.
